Cory Undlin

Cory Undlin was Coach Ben McEnroe's teammate during his playing years with the Kingsmen. Then after his playing years at Cal Lutheran from "90"-94 as a Defensive Safety and receiving All SCIAC Second Team Honors, he spent four years with Cal Lutheran's defensive coaching staff. He then accepted a graduate assistant coaching position at Fresno State under Coach Phil Hill who had been an Assistant Coach under Bill Belichick with the Cleveland Browns. This led to an Assistant Defensive Coaching position with Belichick and the New England Patriots in 2004 (the year they won Super Bowl XXXIX). This led to further opportunities with the Cleveland Browns as Defensive Quality Control Coach, the Defensive Backs Coach in 2009 and 2010. The very next year Undlin became the Denver Broncos defensive quality control coach and in the 2013-2014 season he reached the Super Bowl again, only this time serving as the head defensive backs coach. All of this success led to his most recent position as Defensive Backs Coach with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Ben McEnroe (Breakfast Speaker)

Ben McEnroe enters his 12th season as the head football coach of Cal Lutheran in 2018.

During that time, McEnroe has led the Kingsmen to unprecedented success at the NCAA Division III level. After winning a SCIAC championship in 2007, McEnroe's 2009-12 Kingsmen squad's won four SCIAC championships, with an unprecedented record of 35-2 in SCIAC regular season games, and won 27 conference games in a row. Those teams made four NCAA Division III playoff appearances, including when the Kingsmen hosted North Central (Ill.) on Nov. 17, 2012 in the first on-campus NCAA championship event at William Rolland Stadium. The Kingsmen appeared in the d3football.com Top 25 poll for 41 consecutive weeks between 2009-2013. Since 2007, numerous CLU student-athletes have been selected as All-Americans and All-SCIAC selections.

McEnroe has been a part of the Cal Lutheran coaching staff for every SCIAC championship in program history. He was an assistant coach for the 1997 championship team, recruiting and coaching an Offensive Line which featured three All-SCIAC selections.

McEnroe brings 25 years of coaching experience, including stints as the Offensive Line coach at his Alma mater CLU from 1993-98 and at Division II Humboldt State from 1999-2002.

In 2003 he took on the role of Head Coach at Chaminade College Prep High School in West Hills, Calif. He led that program to the CIF playoffs four times and earned a league title in 2006. Several former Chaminade players of McEnroe's have enjoyed success at the professional level, including San Francisco 49ers Tight End Logan Paulsen, Tampa Bay Buccaneers Quarterback Ryan Griffin, and Toronto Blue Jays Centerfielder Kevin Pillar.

As a player, McEnroe played as both an offensive lineman and linebacker for Taft Union High School from 1984-1987. During his high school career he earned First Team All-SSL Offense and Defense, and was selected to the Bakersfield Californian all-Area team. He was also voted Team Captain and Most Valuable Lineman.

In 1989 he attended and played for Bakersfield College before arriving at Cal Lutheran. While playing for the Kingsmen during the 1991 and 1992 seasons, he received First Team All-SCIAC at Center and Most Inspirational Player honors as CLU Football Team Captain. McEnroe earned his Bachelor's degree in History from Cal Lutheran in 1993, and completed his Master of Arts Degree in Education from CLU in 1999.

Married to Kami since 1995, the couple have three children: Cassidy, Kylie and Cory. In his free time, Coach McEnroe enjoys spending time with his family, traveling, reading, and sitting on the beach.

He has participated in many community service organizations and events in the community.

The Cradle of Coaches is a nickname originally given to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio for producing many great Division I Football Coaches. The Coaching Legacy from Cal Lu

The Cradle of Coaches is a nickname originally given to Miami University in Oxford, Ohio for producing many great Division I Football Coaches. Cal Lutheran has gained the same reputation and nickname as a lower Division University that has produced and continues to produce outstanding football coaches in great numbers for all levels of this competitive sport, including high school, college and professional.

The coaches profiled below are representative of the kinds of coaches that Cal Lutheran has produced and continues to be associated with. In fact, our own Coach Ben McEnroe is a prime example of the kind of coaches that have historically been produced through their nurturing at and through Cal Lutheran Coaches like Sir. Shoup. It is the kind of coaching that teaches not only football skills, but values and purpose in life.

Dave Aranda

Aranda graduated from Cal Lutheran in 1999 with a bachelor's degree in philosophy. In 2002, he earned his master's degree in interdisciplinary studies at Texas Tech.

Aranda spent two years as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at his alma mater, California Lutheran, where the Kingsmen led the conference in scoring defense and total defense. It was his second go-around with California Lutheran after serving as an assistant from 1996-99, while finishing his degree.

He is currently the defensive coordinator for the LSU Tigers.

Tom Herman

He was an all-conference wide Receiver at Cal Lutheran who earned his B.S. degree in business administration from Cal Lutheran in 1997, where he graduated cum laude and was a Presidential Scholarship recipient. Herman received his Masters Degree in Education from Texas.

Tom was not only the RECIPIENT OF THE BROYLES AWARD in 2014 given to one of over 1500 coaches representing all 117 Division One college football programs voted on their peers in the world of college football, and the five Broyles Award finalists are chosen by the tally of these ballots. From these five, Tom Herman was chosen.

Having been an offensive coordinator at Ohio State, Iowa State and other ranked schools, late in 2014, Tom Herman landed his “dream job” ...Head Coach at the University of Houston. In 2015, he proved he's one of the very best, in Houston's win over Florida State University in Peach Bowl 2015. Then just last year, he was drafted by the University of Texas to be their Head Football Coach.

Rod Marinelli

Marinelli began as an undergraduate at Utah in 1968, where he played offensive and defensive tackle. After military service in Vietnam, he attended Cal Lutheran with a physical education major and was a member of Bob Shiup's legendary 1971 NAIA National Championship team on which he was team captain and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes (NAIA) all-American offensive tackle.

Marinelli joined the Dallas Cowboys as the defensive line coach in 2013 but was elevated to coordinator in 2014. With only one All-Pro selection, linebacker Sean Lee, the cowboys finished 2016 with the NFL's top-ranked run defense and were fifth in points allowed at 19.1 per game. The Cowboys have extended the contract of defensive coordinator Rod Marinelli for another three years, according to multiple sources. Marinelli has 40 years of coaching experience, including 20 in the NFL.

“A school without football is in danger of deteriorating into a Medieval study hall.”

Tim Lins

'85, M.A. '94, Years at Cal Lutheran: 1981-1985

Tim Lins arrived at Cal Lutheran from Cerritos College in 1980 and made an immediate impact on the football field. At CLU, Lins was coached by Bob Shoup. "Bob was a master of the passing game," he said. "I learned a lot about the passing game with him." During the 1981 and 1982 seasons, Lins caught 77 passes, scored 12 touchdowns and racked up 974 yards. His efforts helped lead those teams to back-to-back NAIA District 3 Championships. Lins was named to the NAIA All-America First Team both years as a Kingsmen and is one of only three two-time NAIA All-America First Team selections in CLU history.

Tim has spent 27 years of his life in coaching high school football. After spending ten years at Encino Crespi, he moved to Coach at Moorpark High School at which he has now coached for 17 years and won over 100 games, taken Moorpark to the playoffs 13 times, including four trips to the CIF finals. He was also the first NFL-ABC7 High School Coach of the Week in 2016.

The Beginnings

Bob "The Logo" Trevathan looks for yardage.

By George Engdahl

When Richard Pederson, the farmer who owned the land on which CLU was developed, responded to Orville Dahl's, CLU's first president, knock on his door, in 1957, he said "I have been expecting you." In providing the land, Pederson's goal was simple: "I want to provide youth with the benefits of a Christian education in a day when spiritual values may well decide the course of history." Since that time CLU has never wavered. Expecting great things has always been at the core of CLU and it has remained steadfast in defining and being faithful to its spiritual values.

Orville Dahl wasted little time in making the development of a first class athletic program a high priority in CLU's first year. He hired a visionary athletic director, Luther Schwich, and then set about the task of recruiting Coach Shoup as the University's founding football coach. Coach Shoup in turn brought with him Don Garrison, who was not only a successful and charismatic coach in his own right, but like Shoup a person of deep personal faith. The Shoup's (Bob and Helen) arrived on the campus in the spring of 1962 and immediately set about the task of recruiting the first football team. Along the way he recruited a couple of faculty members, James Kallas, and Robert Hage to help him. Hage was also a Dean at the college. Both of these men became legends in their own right with regard to the development of the football program and the academic tradition of the University.

In the fall of 1962 the first scraggy recruits showed up. There were no fields on which to practice. The gym was under construction, so Beta Hall, the men's residence hall at the time, served as the locker room until Mountclef Hall was finished that same fall. We started with two a days. There was no hot water in the residence hall. The practice field was a small grassy area located where Alumni House (the Pederson home) is now located. Eventually we were able to practice at Camarillo High School. Getting to practice in the bus affectionately called "The White Tornado" and driven by Norm Denison, was an adventure in survival in and of itself.

While the first team began its inaugural season with no home field, Orville Dahl, Bob Shoup, and representatives from the Los Angeles Times, were able to attract a new NFL team, the Dallas Cowboys, to the campus for their summer camp. Working with the Cowboys, the University was able to fast track the development of better locker room and training facilities as well as the creation of the first home field and adjacent practice fields on the north campus. For the next 26 years these two organizations, the CLU Kingsmen, and the Dallas Cowboys, grew into very competitive and nationally recognized teams. Each team reached the pinnacle of competition by winning their own versions of the national championship. The Cowboys helped put the city of Dallas on the map, and Kingsmen football helped to promote and develop brand identity for this new fledgling university in the southwest. Tom Landry was a man of faith and high spiritual values as was coach Shoup and coach Garrison. In fact the "Letterman's Club" as such organizations were called in those days, was named Chi Alpha Sigma, "Christians, Athletes, Scholars." Perhaps Chi Alpha Sigma can become a part of the foundation, history and tradition of The 5th Quarter.

The first team - 1962 Kingsmen

The first season (1962) was the launching of the CLU football program. It was a bare bones program. There was no nickname or fight song. Facilities were limited at best. There was no home field, or a strong student and community following. Those things were being developed on the fly, or sometime in the future. However, in the great CLU tradition, players, coaches and students didn't know what they didn't have. The team's 1962 record 3-4, wasn't as important as commitment and dedication of those first players and coaches. Most of the players came from very competitive high schools and community college programs. They were used to winning and having great facilities, traditions, a fight song, a band and cheerleaders backed by a large and faithful student body that had come to the same home field for years. In 1962 neither the Cowboys nor the Kingsmen had any of those amenities, but it didn't matter. CLU players and those students and faculty were affectionately called pioneers. They pioneered. That's what they did. They laid the groundwork, they had high expectations and they established the mantra for a winning tradition that continues to this day.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES

OUR MINISTRIES

COACHES Ministry: Coaches are the heart of FCA. Our philosophy in Coaches Ministry is to minister "to and through the coach" to see transformation. FCA ministers to coaches through Bible studies, prayer support, discipleship and mentoring, resources, outreach events and retreats.

CAMPUS Ministry: FCA focuses on equipping, enabling, empowering and encouraging student-athletes, coaches and adult leaders to impact and influence their campus for Christ. This is accomplished through certified ministry that is initiated and led by student-athletes, sponsored by coaches, supported by staff, established on junior high, high school or college campuses and meets on a regular basis. There are four ministry types: Club Huddles, Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles and Coaches Huddles.

CAMP Ministry: Camps are a time of "inspiration and perspiration." FCA provides athletes and coaches the opportunity to reach their God-given potential by offering comprehensive athletic, spiritual and leadership training in a camp environment. We create an athletic environment that produces spiritual transformation in the lives of coaches and athletes in a camp setting. These types of camps are Sports camp, Leadership camp, Coaches camp, Power camp, Partnership camp, Team camp and International camp.

COMMUNITY Ministry: With the majority of athletes playing sports in the community (non-campus programs), FCA is ministering to the club, recreational and youth sports teams with the goal of establishing on-going ministry for coaches and athletes to compete for Jesus Christ with character, passion and excellence. This includes any off-campus opportunities such as Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles, Coaches Huddles, Club Huddles and FCA Sports Teams.

The Mystique of The Blue Slippers

By John Leubtow

Superstition and ritual in sports is found in all sports venues. It is generally something initially developed in hindsight, almost by accident and then called upon in future events. Such superstitions arise when an athlete or team has an exceptional performance and then tries to establish "cause and effect" by trying to link any odd or unusual circumstances at the time with the performance breakthrough itself. After this link is made in the mind of the athlete or athletes, through visualization or guided imagery, which today is the very basis of sports psychology, the athlete or athletes call upon this "mojo" before each competition.

The ritual mystique of the Blue Slippers at then California Lutheran College began early in the 1964 season when our three-year-old football program reached its lowest ebb. Going in to the season, the young Kingsmen had won eight and lost eight after two seasons of suspect competition. Now, after a stunning 13-8 win over La Verne College, CLC was in the midst of a depressing losing streak.

We lost to Occidental 28-7, were blanked by Southern Utah 26-0 and humiliated by Claremont-Mudd 28-13.

The next game was to be our longest road trip to play a very tough Colorado College team, and it was their homecoming game. In early October, the team flew into Colorado Springs and was met by an old city transit bus. We were taken to the edge of town to a very tired, single-story motel. The extra bags were put in the garage storage area among beat-up furniture, lost-and-found articles and miscellaneous hotel supplies. It had been a very long day, and we were tired and did not have much spirit or enthusiasm. We had eaten on the plane so the next order of business was to get back on the bus and go five miles downtown where the campus was located for a practice session. Many players had to stand on the crowded bus.

The college was on a beautiful site and the leaves had begun to change on the trees. We got off the bus below campus at the stadium field level in our game uniforms. The air was crisp and clean. As we began to loosen up and go through a light practice, our spirits began to rise and a vocal camaraderie began to assert itself. We were not intimidated but were like school kids on an outing.

This scene was then overshadowed from above with band music and cheers. Colorado College was having its homecoming pep rally. Clearly we could hear from the PA system that "...this team from California is in the midst of a losing streak and we have beaten them before and we expect them to be an easy opponent." With that, we Kingsmen began to shout and cheer and the entire Colorado College student body and alumni came over to the edge of the stadium to see what was going on.

The next day was fabulous. Sunny, but cool. We cleaned out our rooms, loaded up our gear and got on the bus to go to the college to tape and dress for the game. That Saturday we controlled the Colorado College gridiron, and as we found out after our victory, the game was recorded for local television to be played that evening. For me personally it was my best single game at Cal Lutheran, with over 120 yards rushing, a long punt return and one touchdown. The final score was 29-6. The line of John Paris, Fred Kemp, Jim Tschida, Cary Washburn, Roger Young and Jerry Palmquist, and Safety / Wide Receiver Skip Mooney and others was stunning. Everything went right. The holes were there for us on offense and not for Colorado on Defense. After the losing games we experienced prior to this game and as history has shown, this was the turning point in our team's confidence and morale and set the stage for the Blue Slippers and the beginning of multiple years of winning seasons, national rankings and a national championship.

That Saturday evening some of us on the team found a "local watering hole" for a little "imbibing" and to watch ourselves on TV. Although we discovered that we were not so welcome sitting there imbibing and cheering ourselves on as we "devoured the locals", but, fear not, for when you enter an establishment with "the big boys"...nobody bothers you.

The next morning as we boarded the bus to depart...the Blue Slippers...entered our lives. We were all seated and ready to leave when Coach Shoup and Coach Garrison entered the bus laughing. Standing in front of the bus, Coach Shoup honored us with accolades about his pleasure with the victory and then he held up this scummy, dirty, disgusting old pair of women's slippers and told us the cleaning woman had found them in my room and wanted to return them to me. Everybody laughed, but with this bit of humorous injection from the coaches and the joy of a great upset victory under our belts, the appearance of the Blue Slippers became identified with a magic moment in our lives...a magic performance, and I became "the keeper of the Blue Slippers" until 1967.

The next week, CLC routed George Fox 59-0. We then won 33-9 over Cal Tech and 14-8 over a very tough Cal State team. The following week, we went to Pomona but the slippers stayed home and we lost 14-8. The legend began. The last game was our Homecoming, and we beat UC Riverside 7-0. After that for some strange reason they became like a "mystical good luck charm", even being hung up in the locker room with a white shoelace for players to touch or give homage to at game time. Then suddenly, they mysteriously vanished.

During the next 10 years, CLU won eight state championships and a national title in 1971. In 1975 the CLU Kingsmen were the #1 rated team in both the NAIA Division II and the NCAA Division III, and even today we virtually control our conference and are nationally ranked.

POSTSCRIPT

The Blue Slippers "good luck symbol" has been with the Kingsmen ever since they were found. Although no one is ready to "bet the farm" that they hold a mysterious power that transformed the Kingsmen into the powerhouse they have become, no one is also willing to question this possibility.

The legend will continue...

The Tradition Continues

Coach McEnroe on 2019 Season

The Kingsmen will embark on the 2019 football season with one of the youngest teams in recent seasons. What the team lacks in experience and seasoned veterans, it will make-up with enthusiasm and some very fine young talent.

Look for CLU's defense to lead the way, particularly in the early going. Led by an outstanding secondary and talented Linebackers, the Kingsmen should be very tough against the pass. Senior All-American Obasi Dees returns for his fourth season as a starter. Numerous NFL teams have been to Thousand Oaks to evaluate and meet with Dees, and he looks to be in an NFL training camp in the spring of 2020. Talented transfers Jamon Ward and Ke-Shaun Charles will join Dees as fast, physical Cornerbacks, while junior Izayah Morah and Sophomore JD Lang will start training camp at Safety. Graduate Senior Ethan Pulley will anchor the middle of the defense, and is an all-American candidate. He will be joined by star sophomore Connor McDermott, a Ventura native, who saw extensive action as a freshman.

Offensively, expect the Kingsmen to rely upon a veteran corps of Senior Offensive Linemen to lead the way. All-SCIAC performers Frank Molina and Danny Avila return for their third stint as starters, while Tavita Sagapolu looks to build upon a successful junior campaign. Senior Tight End Josh Ketcher is an ironman performer who rarely leaves the field for CLU. There will be a battle for the starting Quarterback job between several veterans and a talented group of newcomers.

Cal Lutheran will play a 10-game schedule for the second consecutive season. The Kingsmen open on the road in Puyallup, Washington against long-time rival Pacific Lutheran University on September 14, followed by non-conference home games against Pacific and the University of Wisconsin-Stout. SCIAC play begins on the road at Oxy, but features home tilts against defending SCIAC champion CMS on Homecoming and the annual Smudge Pot Game versus Redlands on November 2nd.

Alma Mater

Lyrics by: Orville Dahl Music by Rossini
Oh, summon your sons and daughters,
Your banners and flags unfold,
Call them to Alma Mater,
The violet and the gold,
California Lutheran,
College of our dreams,
Upon whose crested summits
Sunbeams dance and gleam.

Oh, summon your sons and daughters,
The 'circling hills enfold,
Near deep Pacific waters,
The violet and the gold.
Your love of freedom cherish,
Your love of truth prevails,
Your love of Christ merit,
Alma Mater, Hail! All Hail! All Hail!

Hail The Kingsmen

Hail Kingsmen! Hail Kingsmen!
Forward into battle go the Kingsmen!
Roaring out again to meet the foe.
Stand and cheer as they appear.
Every loyal son will bid them go.
Throughout the land our loyal band of Kingsmen raise their colors high for all to see. So! Give your all today -
And once again we'll say -
It's victory for CLU.
Hail Kingsmen! Hail Kingsmen!
Fight on to victory.

The Davey Spurlock Fighting Heart Award 2019

Having a "Fighting Heart" describes a person who faces great adversity, but lines up anyway. One who courageously and passionately casts aside the fears, doubts and limiting beliefs to overcome and ultimately earn their success. And by their actions inspire others.

At Cal Lutheran we first discovered such courage, inspiration and passion in the life of a student named Davey Spurlock, for whom this honor is named. He overcame overwhelming odds that threatened his life, and went on to great accomplishments, both in football and in life.

This Year's Recipient: Christopher Anderson

Christopher Anderson was born in South Central Los Angeles on March 5, 1994. He was pronounced a "crack baby" at birth due to his mother's heavy use of drugs. Chris was adopted by his mother's first cousin and moved to San Bernardino until the 8th grade, when he moved to Hemet. It was upon moving to Hemet that Chris fell in love with the game of football, where he went on to star at West Valley High School. During his senior season, he was going to sign with San Diego State, but an injury cut his season short and the scholarship offer was pulled. No stranger to adversity, he enrolled and played at Riverside City College for two years, where Anderson was highly decorated, including being named Junior College All-American. Christopher's dream of playing Division I football materialized when he signed with Eastern Illinois University, the realization of a lifelong goal. However, during his time at EIU, Chris suffered with depression and began to lose focus on the football field and in the classroom. This led to issues with recreational drug use and he began running with the wrong crowd.

In the summer before what should have been his final season at Eastern Illinois, when football had become all but an afterthought due to academic ineligibility, Chris contacted Anthony Lugo and Ben McEnroe to discuss attending Cal Lutheran to finish his degree and his football career. His GPA was not high enough to become immediately eligible, so while training with the team, Chris got his life back on track. He made positive lifestyle choices, he committed to his academics, and worked many jobs on campus to pay his way through school.

Heading into his final season, the 2018-2019 school year, Chris' hard work and dedication paid off. He was named to the CLU Honor Roll as a student, and was recognized by the head football coaches in the SCIAC as the top Running Back in the conference, earning 1st Team All-SCIAC honors. Most importantly, Chris earned a degree in Sociology from CLU in May 2019, and is dedicated to serving others. Anderson's life and football journey exemplify the spirit of the Davey Spurlock Fighting Heart Award.

THE CANDYMAN COMETH

He's Our Kingsmen Commander of the Candy Toss

How sweet it is! When the Cal Lutheran football team scores, everybody's sweet tooth gets satisfied by Karsten Lundring, a 1965 graduate of Cal Lutheran who has supported Kingsmen football for 54 years. His tradition of hurling candy into the stands every time Cal Lutheran scores began over 30 years ago. "Cal Lutheran scored a touchdown and I had a pack of Candy with me that I threw, and it's been a tradition ever since."
