★★★ Ex-North Coach Finds New Haven ★★★

By DICK WHITE
Daily Breeze Staff Writer

Why would a coach leave a job where he had the most modern equipment, dressing facilities and a stadium to go with the best team in the school's history?

Especially when it was considered the new position he was offered would be at a college where less than 200 males are enrolled, no practice or game field is available, no dressing quarters on the premises and a team of 36 players, which included 24 boys who had never played varsity football in high school.

That was the decision Bob Shoup faced at North Torrance High prior to the summer of 1962.

"It wasn't really a hard choice," Shoup said.

"The only factor which held me back a little was the fact I knew I had a great team coming back at North.

"In the end, I felt I had only one decision to make. It was a decision of leaving a great season then or waiting six or seven years."

"I chose to wait six or seven years," Shoup said as he gave the reasons behind his move from North Torrance to the head football job at California Lutheran College in Thousand Oaks.

Hard Life

"Yes, all those things you said about the school were true last year," Shoup remarked.

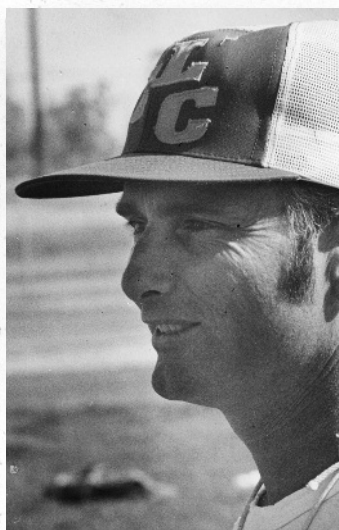

"We didn't have a field so we had to travel by bus to local high schools for our games. We never played a home game at the same high school twice.

"We didn't have any locker room facilities and I was forced to issue equipment from the infirmary and the boys had to dress in their own living quarters before boarding a bus to take us to practice 10 miles away.

Practice Areas

"If we couldn't get a high school field, we practiced on a small patch of grass used for girl's field hockey or out in a weed patch."

From the 36 players which turned out for football last year, Shoup had a dozen who had never played before, another dozen who hadn't played varsity football in high school and 12 former varsity players.

cept an assistant's job and then hope for a break," he said.

"I think the choice was a good one and the team which will be back next year should bear me out."

Club Successful

Although Shoup has to rely on ministers and friends in the coaching ranks for his recruiting program, he feels the club will be successful.

"I don't have any alums to beat the bushes or funnel material yet," Shoup explained. "so I have to get plenty of help from other sources."

He has done quite a job recruiting in the South Bay. Paul Harmon and Bob Davis, the starting tackles on North's CIF team last year, have already enrolled.

Tim Roetger, quarterback from South, also will be at Cal Lutheran and Jim Allison, the two-time All Metropolitan Conference back from El Camino, is entertaining the same idea.

"This isn't going to be a 'bible school' by any means," Shoup said.

"Our 15-year-program calls for more than $15 million to go into the campus and the athletic program will receive a good share of the money and benefits.

"We hope to give a chance to the little guy who is not big enough to play at a four-year school, and doesn't want to play junior college ball.

"We can help junior college transfers because we're a private school and we don't require the boys to be jaycee graduate like the big schools do."

"But we had a pretty good season," he said, "winning three and losing four.

"This year things should be better, we have a fine football and practice field, the newest and best of equipment and a temporary locker room which will be moved when the campus grows."

The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League are currently using the facilities at the college for their training camp, which shows the improvement which has been made in one year's time.

But Shoup is philosophical about the choice.

"I had to decide whether to take this job and start at the ground level and work up or wait four or five years and ac-

The Beginnings

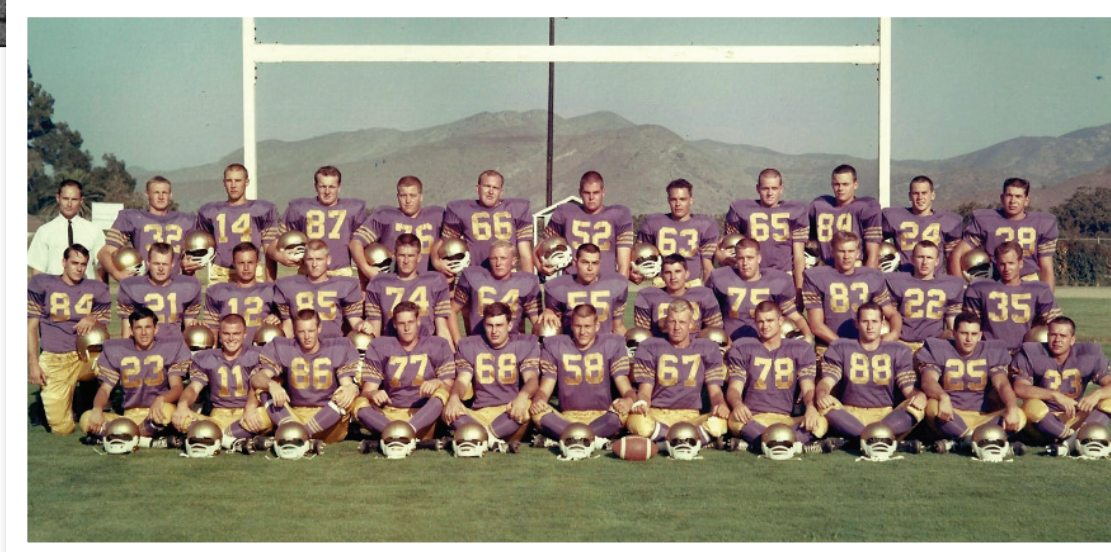

Bob "The Logo" Trevathan looks for yardage.

By George Engdahl

When Richard Pederson, the farmer who owned the land on which CLU was developed, responded to Orville Dahl's, CLU's first president, knock on his door, in 1957, he said "I have been expecting you." In providing the land, Pederson's goal was simple: "I want to provide youth with the benefits of a Christian education in a day when spiritual values may well decide the course of history." Since that time CLU has never wavered. Expecting great things has always been at the core of CLU and it has remained steadfast in defining and being faithful to its spiritual values.

Orville Dahl wasted little time in making the development of a first class athletic program a high priority in CLU's first year. He hired a visionary athletic director, Luther Schwich, and then set about the task of recruiting Coach Shoup as the University's founding football coach. Coach Shoup in turn brought with him Don Garrison, who was not only a successful and charismatic coach in his own right, but like Shoup a person of deep personal faith. The Shoup's (Bob and Helen) arrived on the campus in the spring of 1962 and immediately set about the task of recruiting the first football team. Along the way he recruited a couple of faculty members, James Kallas, and Robert Hage to help him. Hage was also a Dean at the college. Both of these men became legends in their own right with regard to the development of the football program and the academic tradition of the University.

In the fall of 1962 the first scraggy recruits showed up. There were no fields on which to practice. The gym was under construction, so Beta Hall, the men's residence hall at the time, served as the locker room until Mountclef Hall was finished that same fall. We started with two a days. There was no hot water in the residence hall. The practice field was a small grassy area located where Alumni House (the Pederson home) is now located. Eventually we were able to practice at Camarillo High School. Getting to practice in the bus affectionately called "The White Tornado" and driven by Norm Denison, was an adventure in survival in and of itself.

While the first team began its inaugural season with no home field, Orville Dahl, Bob Shoup, and representatives from the Los Angeles Times, were able to attract a new NFL team, the Dallas Cowboys, to the campus for their summer camp. Working with the Cowboys, the University was able to fast track the development of better locker room and training facilities as well as the creation of the first home field and adjacent practice fields on the north campus. For the next 26 years these two organizations, the CLU Kingsmen, and the Dallas Cowboys, grew into very competitive and nationally recognized teams. Each team reached the pinnacle of competition by winning their own versions of the national championship. The Cowboys helped put the city of Dallas on the map, and Kingsmen football helped to promote and develop brand identity for this new fledgling university in the southwest. Tom Landry was a man of faith and high spiritual values as was coach Shoup and coach Garrison. In fact the "Letterman's Club" as such organizations were called in those days, was named Chi Alpha Sigma, "Christians, Athletes, Scholars." Perhaps Chi Alpha Sigma can become a part of the foundation, history and tradition of The 5th Quarter.

The first season (1962) was the launching of the CLU football program. It was a bare bones program. There was no nickname or fight song. Facilities were limited at best. There was no home field, or a strong student and community following. Those things were being developed on the fly, or sometime in the future. However, in the great CLU tradition, players, coaches and students didn't know what they didn't have. The team's 1962 record 3-4, wasn't as important as commitment and dedication of those first players and coaches. Most of the players came from very competitive high schools and community college programs. They were used to winning and having great facilities, traditions, a fight song, a band and cheerleaders backed by a large and faithful student body that had come to the same home field for years. In 1962 neither the Cowboys nor the Kingsmen had any of those amenities, but it didn't matter. CLU players and those students and faculty were affectionately called pioneers. They pioneered. That's what they did. They laid the groundwork, they had high expectations and they established the mantra for a winning tradition that continues to this day.

Cal Lutheran Head Coaches

Bob Shoup (1962-89, 184-87-6)

If it weren't for Robert F. Shoup, not only might we not be celebrating 60 years of Kingsmen football, we might not have a California Lutheran University to celebrate it at.

As the 1970 season began, the college was in trouble: Facing a crushing $3.6 million indebtedness, talk among CLC leaders included possible bankruptcy or closure of the school, something that had occurred at a number of small colleges in the late 1960s and early '70s. The 1970-71 school year saw severe austerity measures help the school finish in the black for the first time in a decade, but finances remained dicey.

Then came the 1971 season. After being frustrated by six years in which the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics had ignored the Kingsmen for a postseason berth, it was hard for the nabobs in Kansas City to ignore CLC after the school's first unbeaten regular season at 6-0-2 (the ties came in the season opener at Augustana (S.D.), 31-31, and shockingly at lowly La Verne, 6-6, in the fourth game).

In the postseason, the Kingsmen defense, led by middle linebacker Sam Cvijanovich, hammered visiting Montana Tech, 34-6, and rallied with 23 fourth-quarter points to stun defending champion Westminster (Pa.), 30-14, in a pair of games at cozy Mt. Clef Field. The finale was broadcast across the Southland on KNBC (Channel 4), with longtime broadcaster (later to become one of the voices of the LA Dodgers) and former LA Lakers star Tommy Hawkins calling the game from atop the tiny press box.

The following February, the Kingsmen and the Dallas Cowboys, who had won the 1972 Super Bowl and were longtime summer residents in the CLC campus, were honored the Hollywood Palladium at the "Banquet of Champions," which turned out to be a financial watershed. As Shoup told Steve Henson of the LA Times for a 1985 story, "The school was well over $1 million in debt in 1971. CLC gained National visibility through the championship, which gave our fund-raisers the impetus to solicit loans from Lutheran church congregations." The mostly interest-free loans were repaid within five years, Henson noted.

The 1971 championship was never repeated although Kingsmen came close in 1975 and 1977, losing the title games to Texas Lutheran and Westminster, respectively.

Coach Shoup rides the Shoulders of Glory after the 1971 National Championship Game.

So, was the 1971 the greatest in school history? Depends which alumni you talk to.

Some will argue for the 1965, the first in two decades of CLC dominance at 8-1 with an offense that led the NAIA with 429.4 yards per game, or any of the teams in 1968-70 (9-1, 8-1 and 8-1-1, respectively).

How about the 10-1 1975 team, which recorded the only unbeaten, untied regular season before losing in the title game, the 9-1 1976 squad or even the 9-2 1977 club, which suffered a narrow loss in the championship final.

Obviously, there were many great seasons for Shoup, from his founding the team with Don Garrison, Jim Kallas and Bob Hage in 1962 though his abrupt dismissal after the 1989 campaign. When he departed, he had posted a 184-87-6 mark for a .675 winning percentage. In the glory years (1965-82), his clubs were 143-32-4 (.810); only twice did they lose more than two games in a season. At the time of his forced retirement, he was the winningest small college coach in Southern California in terms of wins and winning percentage.

It's not surprising that Shoup, the 1971 NAIA National coach of the year, was inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame in 2008. Two years later, longtime NY Giants linebacker Brian Kelley, the defensive star of the 1971 championship game and a 1972 Associated Press first team All-American, was named to the College Football Hall of Fame, the only Kingsmen player honored so far.

Overall, Kingsmen stars were named NAIA All-American 47 times, from defensive back Stan Scheiber in 1966 through quarterback Tom Bonds in 1985. Two-time honoree Cvijanovich, rookie of the year in the Canadian Football League, preceded Kelley as a Little All-American, named to the third team in 1971.

Shoup's legacy goes beyond the confines of Mt. Clef Stadium, as a number of Kingsmen entered professional football, led by Kelley, Cvijanovich and the star of the 1975 team, running back Hank Bauer, who was one of the NFL's most decorated special teams performers in six seasons with the San Diego Chargers.

Dozens of Shoup's former players went on to coaching careers at the high school, college and professional ranks. One member of the 1971 team, co-captain and offensive line All-American Rod Marinelli, recently was honored by the Pro Football Writers of America with the Paul "Dr. Z" Zimmerman for lifetime achievement as an NFL assistant coach.

Joe Harper (1990-96, 23-32-1)

When Joe Harper replaced Hall of Fame coach Bob Shoup prior to the 1990 season, he faced a number of problems he didn't have in his previous tenures at Division 1AA Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Northern Arizona:

no spring ball to ascertain the level of talent returning from a 3-6 team, no athletic scholarships, only two weeks to prepare for the season opener and a plethora of conflicting rules from the NCAA Divisions 2 and 3, the NAIA and the SCIAC, which Cal Lutheran was to join in 1991.

That's a far cry from conditions at Cal Poly, where he had become the school's winningest football coach, leading them to the NCAA Division 2 championship in 1980 and earning national coach of the year honors.

Not surprisingly, all the issues resulted in a 2-8 record in 1990, the fifth straight losing season for the Kingsmen, a rare blip in the school's 60-year history. However, in a sign of things to come the two wins came against future SCIAC foes Claremont-Mudd-Scripps and Whittier.

In year two, however, the Kingsmen bounced back to a 5-5 mark, and in his final season, the club tied for second in the SCIAC behind unbeaten La Verne, led by freshman All-American Fredrik Nanhed, who went on to become the Kingsmen's all-time career rushing leader in just three seasons.

Harper left his mark on Kingsmen football in another manner, too. Among the members of his offensive line in his first three seasons was Ben McEnroe, who would go on to coach Cal Lutheran to five SCIAC championships in six years and four appearances in the NCAA Division 3 playoffs.

Harper returned to coaching in 2011 at Cal Poly, where he is the Mustangs' offensive analyst.

Ben McEnroe (2007-2020, 74-48)

Once, Kingsmen, always a Kingsmen. That's probably no truer a statement for any former Cal Lutheran player than it is for Ben McEnroe, who became the fourth Kingsmen head coach in 2007 after Scott Squires departed to Canada.

McEnroe joined the Cal Lutheran program as an offensive lineman in 1990, Joe Harper's first season, after transferring from Bakersfield College. He was to prove a mainstay of the Kingsmen line for three seasons, culminating in first team all-SCIAC recognition his senior year, 1992.

He remained with the program the next six seasons as offensive line coach under Harper and Squires before moving on to Humboldt State. In 2003, he became head coach at Chaminade Prep in West Hills, where he led the Eagles to four successful seasons before returning to Cal Lutheran roots.

In his first six seasons heading the Kingsmen program, he led Cal Lutheran to only its second SCIAC title, sharing it with Redlands, and then on to unprecedented success from 2009-2012 – four straight conference titles and NCAA playoff appearances, along with 28 consecutive SCIAC victories from the end of 2008 through the conference opener in 2013.

Cal Lutheran nearly made it six straight conference titles, but a three-point loss to Occidental in 2008 determined the conference title holder.

While the remainder of his time at Cal Lutheran wasn't quite as successful, McEnroe's teams still were 59-26 against SCIAC opponents.

No win was bigger than the 2011 game with arch-rival Redlands in the first game played at William Rolland Stadium. The Kingsmen trailed in the "blackout" game (players and fans all dressed in black for the occasion), 24-0 at halftime and were still behind 24-7 entering the final quarter before scoring three straight times for a 28-24 win. After Jake Laudenslayer twice hit Eric Rogers for touchdowns to cut the margin to three, the senior quarterback pushed in from a yard out for the winning score with 16 seconds left on the clock.

That victory lit a fire under the Kingsmen, who scored no fewer than 52 points in the last six regular-season games before falling in a close game at Linfield in the first round of the NCAA playoffs. Both losses that season came at the hands of the 10-1 Wildcats in Oregon, the first coming in the season opener.

Eight Kingsmen earned All-American honors during McEnroe's tenure, led by defensive back Obasi Dees, who was named to the D3football.com first team in 2019 after being named honorable mention the previous year and to the American Football Coaches 2019 second team.

Defensive end Jacob Calderon also a multiple All-American, earning first team AFCA and AP Little All-American honors and honorable mention on the D3 team in 2008.

Perhaps the best-known Kingsmen during the McEnroe era was the aforementioned Rogers, who shattered all the single season and career receiving and scoring marks in the Cal Lutheran record book en route to first team D3 All-American honors in 2012 and to a standout career in the Canadian Football League. A member of the Calgary Stampeders in 2014 and '15 and again in 2018 and '19, he was part of two Grey Cup championship teams, in 2014 and 2018, and earning CFL All-Star status in 2015 and CFL West honors in 2015 and '19. After the 2020 season was cancelled by the COVID-19 pandemic, Roger signed with the team with most Grey Cup titles, the Toronto Argonauts, for the 2021 season.

While McEnroe's teams continued to battle on the field, they finally ran into an opponent they couldn't defeat: COVID-19. After the 2020 season was cancelled, McEnroe earlier in 2021 relinquished his head coaching duties, which went to longtime assistant coach Anthony Lugo.

McEnroe and his family continue to live in the Conejo Valley.

Scott Squires (1996-2006, 54-45-0)

The third head coach in California Lutheran football history, Scott Squires joined the Kingsmen as linebackers coach in 1989, Bob Shoup's final season, and stayed on during the Joe Harper era (1990-95) before taking the head coaching reins for the 1996 season.

In his second season, the Kingsmen finished as Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference co-champions, missing out on their first NCAA Division 3 playoff berth due to a 28-21 loss to arch-rival Redlands.

In his 11 seasons in Thousand Oaks, the Kingsmen finished no worse than third 10 times, and posted seven winning seasons.

While the 1997 team was the only champion in Squires' tenure, the 2005 team was his most successful. In posting an 8-1 record, the Kingsmen recorded their best record since going 9-1 in 1976. The only blemish was a second-week defeat by then-powerhouse Occidental.

The 2001, 2004 and 2006 squads went 6-3, finishing second in the SCIAC in '01 and '04 at 4-2 and third in '06 at 3-3. The last was a bit misleading since the defeats were by a total of eight points.

As part of their 20-7 run in his final three seasons, his Kingsmen won 11 straight games from 2005 to 2006.

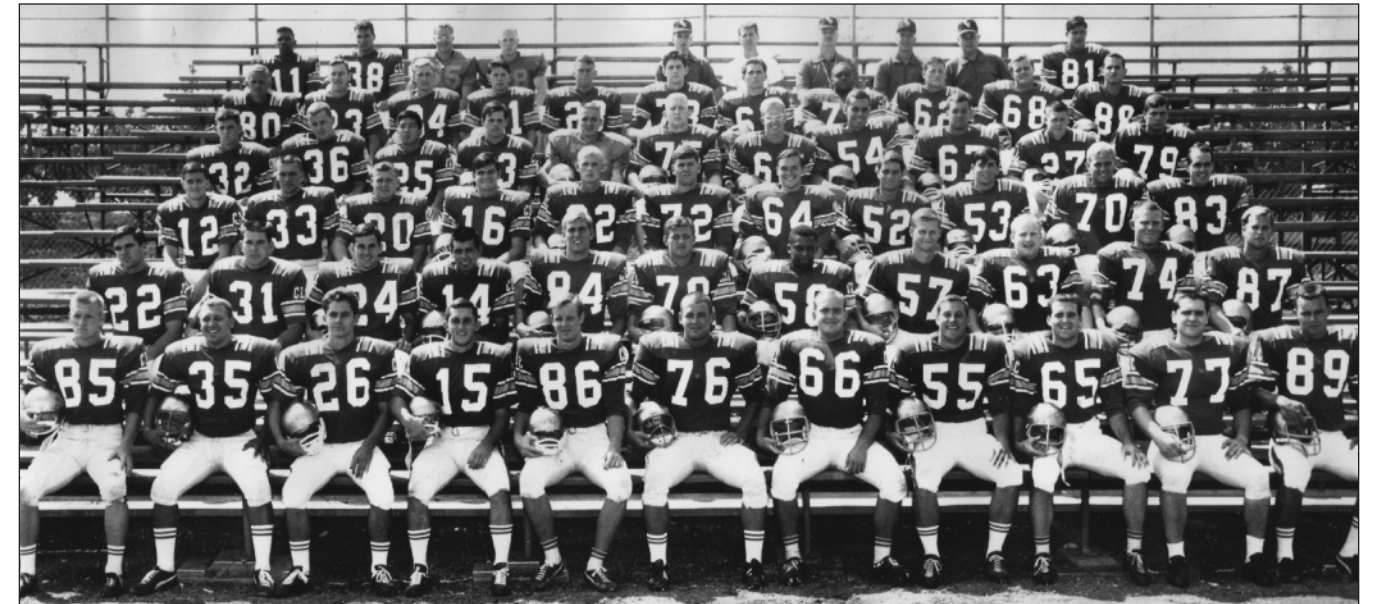

As with Shoup before him, Squires contributed to Cal Lutheran's status as the West Coast cradle of coaches.

Among his top recruits were Dave Aranda, longtime college assistant coach and current head coach at Baylor University, and Tom Herman, formerly head coach at the universities of Houston and Texas and presently offensive analysts and special projects coach for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Upon leaving Cal Lutheran, Squires became special teams coach for the Edmonton Eskimos (2007) and Montreal Alouettes (2008-09) of the Canadian Football League. In his final season, the Alouettes claimed the Grey Cup, the symbol of Canadian football supremacy.

Today, Squires is a successful Newbury Park-based real estate broker.

Captain: Dave Regalado

Dave Regalado was an early standout for the young California Lutheran College football program. He came on the scene in 1963 as a freshman and began a record-setting career as a running back, scoring 25 touchdowns and compiling 2,346 rushing yards.

In his senior season OF 1966, he carried the ball 166 times for an average of 5.8 yards per rush and 11 touchdowns, all career best marks. At the time of his induction into Cal Lutheran's Hall of Fame, he held the school record for scoring in a career with 154 points.

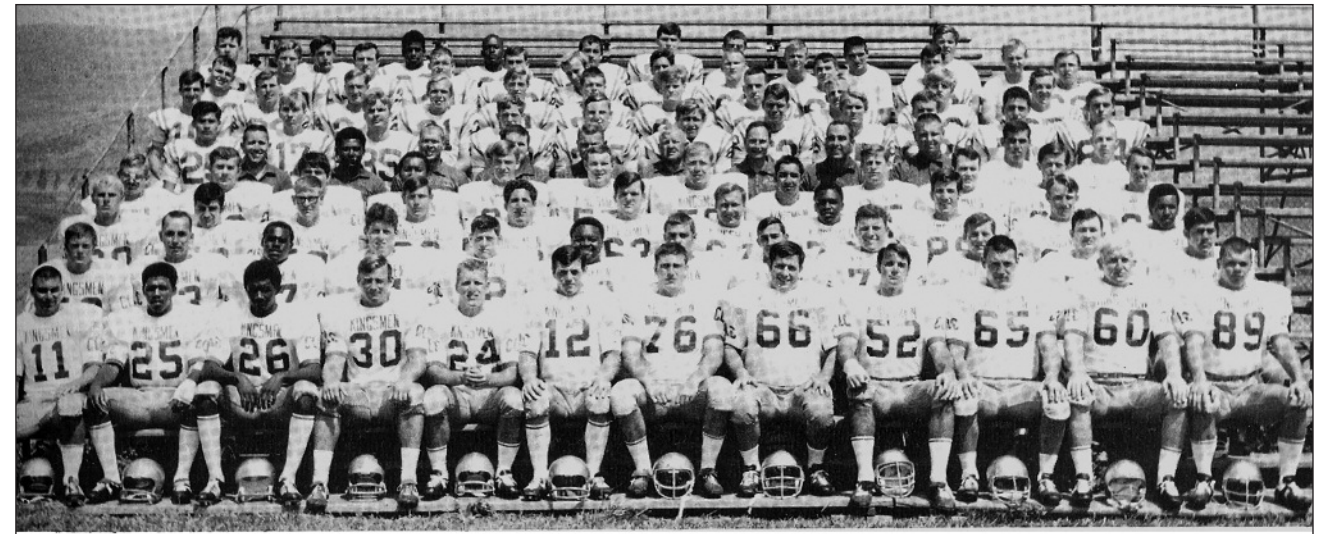

After his junior year in 1965, he was voted All-Lutheran Honorable Mention and All-NAIA District III Honorable Mention. As a senior the following year, he was named to the All-Lutheran First Team and All-NAIA District III First Team.

Orange County's Contributions to Lu Ball

by Don Kindred

By 1967, Cal Lu was already one of the west coast's best small college football teams, having won 28 of their last 34 games. The offense was racking up 450 yards a game. But "Best of the West" was not the goal anymore for Kingsmen Head Coach Bob Shoup, it was not even a laurel to rest on. He already had his eyes set on a somewhat loftier prize ... "National Champions", now that had a certain ring to it.

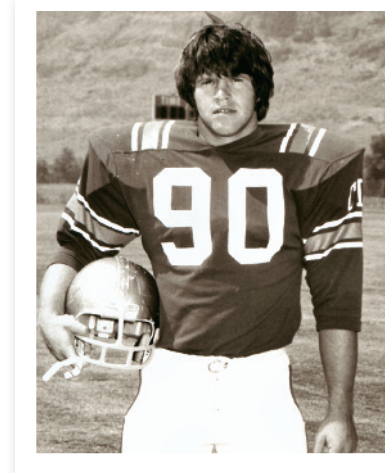

Raising the bar for the team, would take even harder work by the already overworked staff, there were improvements needed in equipment and facilities and more funds would have to be squeezed from the administration's teetering budget. But most importantly, he would need talent. He needed young, strong, hungry warriors who would feed off the Hank and Jim Bauer hailed from Anaheim.

Lu's relatively new traditions and help raise the program up to one worthy of a national stage. Coach Shoup knew where he could find them, he went south.

Like modern day Superbowl MVP's, he went to Disneyland. Well, he went to the Disneyland Hotel, and rented a conference room in an attempt to till the fertile soil of the emerging football empire of Orange County. The expanding suburbs had developed into an untapped reservoir of ball players. There was a new generation of kids who had grown up among the orange groves and were weaned on Little League baseball and Pop Warner football and good coaches and involved parents. Shoup sent out hundreds of letters to OC prep athletes, inviting them to share snacks and soda pop and hear about an enchanted football kingdom in the Conejo Valley. When he'd asked the administration for a couple hundred bucks to cover the food, he hoped to be speaking to maybe 30 or 40 prospects. Instead, his presentation was witnessed by almost 200 senior athletes that all shared a similar passion for pigskin. And all they knew about Cal Lu was that the Dallas Cowboys trained there.

Accompanied by coach Don Garrison and a slide show, Shoup knew he had to give a hell of a speech. He had a tough sell, Cal Lutheran didn't even have a stadium, the fans that might come to watch would be sitting on bleachers that had been picked up in rented trucks from Pasadena and had to be returned before the Rose Parade. The weight room was a former chicken coop, smaller than the ones these kids had trained on in high school. As far as wild college experiences might go, Thousand Oaks pretty much slept thru most of the 60s, the closest form of entertainment would be a unique little zoo called Jungland, or a campus Yam Yad gone bad in the spring. Oh, and we didn't exactly offer scholarships ... but, by the way ... it's the summer home of the Dallas Cowboys.

What he did have to sell was a dream. To those who had tasted the glory that rose from the well-earned victory of a hard-fought battle, he offered a chance for more. A chance to be the best. He wanted the few, the proud, the brave ones who might end up warming the bleachers of a bigger school to think of a starring role in a smaller venue. He offered them a chance to play as freshmen, and a chance to reign as champions, National Champions, to wear the crown that says they were the best small college football team in America.

And they heeded his call. Of the 66 Best players in Orange County, 10 were admitted to CLC, with over 30 applying. Among them, seven prominent athletes from the Southern California All-Star Team ended up on the Kingsmen team; including Jim Bauer, Richard Kelley, Gary McGinnis, Mike Hunkins, Pat Shanely, Matt Montgomery and John Russell.

The Kingsmen, true to Shoup's word, were National Champions in three short years ... oh, and, so were the Dallas Cowboys.

At this point in the season, California Lutheran College's record (3-0-2) began to draw votes in the NAIA ratings game. Ahead were 2 state schools, and tough Pacific Lutheran University. California Lutheran College 40, Sonoma State College 6. After an off week, CLC flew north for a return encounter with Sonoma State and blasted the Cossacks with a 35-point first half and then eased up. Ahead loomed Cal Lutheran's first major university game. California Lutheran College 22, Cal State Los Angeles 7. A Spirited but mistake-prone CLC shocked the haughty Diablos in a wierd twilight single header that was played Friday at four o'clock. at LA's request. the tension mounted as both Cal Western and Claremont lost and CLC moved into the top six nationally and eligible for a play-off spot. That Championship Day

By STEVE HENSON, Times Staff Writer

The week before Cal Lutheran's NAIA Division II championship game with Westminster College, rain turned the brush-covered hills surrounding the school from brown to green. The sky was blue, the air crisp.

The game was played in front of NBC cameras—Tommy Hawkins and Ross Porter did the broadcast on a tape delay—and nearly 10,000 spectators at Mt. Clef field.

"A perfect day to play for a national championship," CLC Coach Bob Shoup recalled. His team won, 30-14.

The Times' Jim Murray, whose daughter Pam was a CLC student in 1971, captured the small college flavor of the event in a column the following week:

"The traffic began to build as early as 10 minutes before the game. . . . The marching band looked more like a combo. . . . No writers flew in from the East to cover it, but several little girls on horseback watched from the end zone. The campus was hardly in a ferment. Guitar music sailed down from the dormitory after kickoff."

Thousand Oaks in 1971 was not the bustling suburb of more than 100,000 people it is today. A rough-and-tumble cowboy flavor permeated the community of 40,000 long before the image was fashionable.

CLC, in the northwest corner of town, was virtually isolated by hills. Folks rode by the campus on horseback on their way to the Santa Rosa Valley or stopped under a shady oak for a quiet picnic.

"You could stand on the football field and not see one house," recalls Gene Uebelhart.

Several of the players formed a rugby team during the spring. "We loved the physical contact," Sam Cvijanovich says.

Forming a traveling kazoo band was another way to pass the time and the 110-member group had an appearance on the Steve Allen Show.

"Few of us had cars," recalls Jim Bauer. "We were stuck in T. O. together and tried to make the best of it. Redneck cowboys played beside blacks, Vietnam veterans played next to draft card burners."

"There was a social and political awareness you don't see anymore. The kids today, I love 'em, but the biggest topic of discussion is what they're going to wear to the Halloween dance. Compared to the way we were, they're vanilla pudding."

supreme and the oft-maligned Kingsmen offense rolled up the 500 yards plus. NBC showed CLC to the world, Jim Murray wrote about it and suddenly Cal Lutheran was everybody's hero—except in the Pennsylvania. California Lutheran College 34, Westminster 14. The Titans are/were a legend in their own time in the East. The tough kids from the coal mines and the steel mills playing for a 120-year-old school, with a bona fide giant for a coach. Defending champs, rated number one all year, undefeated in 24 games, Westminster seemed like a sure winner. A funny thing happened to the Titans on their way to the championship. they lost. The Kingsmen wore the crown and it was no fluke. In the end the star Titan runner was on the bench, the cocky quarterback was throwing ducks and the vaunted Westminster team was learning a lot about being behind with time running out. A lesson Cal Lutheran learned early in September. The headlines Sunday read "CLC No. 1" in type last used on V-J day. The country read it on the wire services, heard it on four radio broadcasts and saw it in color on NBC. The surfer kids from Southern California, playing for a tradition-less church school on government loans and $400 "scholarships" were national champions. Stories like that wouldn't make a pilot show on ABC-TV ... too unbelievable.

Amidst the turmoil and chaos of 1968...the seeds were being sown for a National Championship that saved Cal Lutheran.

- April 9 – Three hundred CLC students march from the campus down Moorpark Boulevard to commemorate the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

1970

- July – CLC's indebtedness is $3,600,000, and bankruptcy is predicted. At the invitation of sponsoring church bodies, Maurice Knutson arrives and is named Executive Vice President to set CLC on a more secure financial footing.
- Faculty salaries are frozen and the size of the faculty is cut from 70 to

63. 1970–71 is known as the year of "tight money." By the end of the academic year, the college ends in the black for the first time in ten years, and the debt is reduced by $80,000. Enrollment nears 1,000

- February – It's announced that the college's indebtedness is reduced by $1,500,000, reversing its deficit trend.

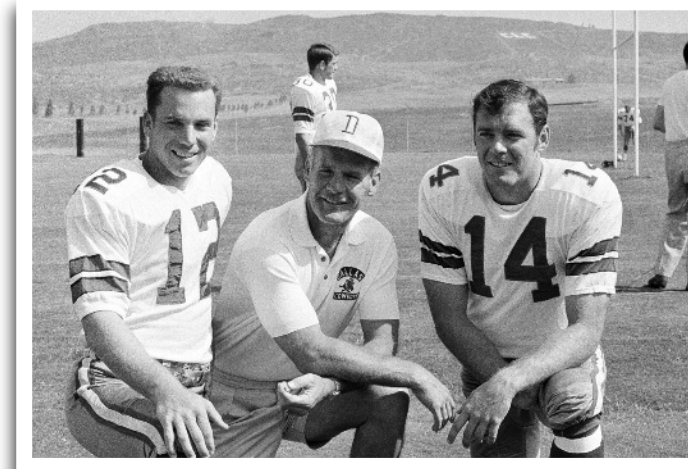

Cowboys in the Cafeteria

Summers Starring Dallas

For Cal Lutheran's long-serving first football coach, the announcement in late March that the Los Angeles Rams will base their training on the Thousand Oaks campus makes a fitting twist in a story that started nearly 56 years ago.

Although many know that the Dallas Cowboys franchise called Cal Lutheran its home away from home for 27 summers, they might not be aware that a famous former Ram had a hand in bringing America's Team to the university.

Now 86 and retired from coaching, Bob Shoup remembers the day in 1962 when a limo drove onto campus. Chauffeur-driven cars being a rare sight on the then-rustic grounds, Shoup stepped away from the tennis class he was teaching to approach the automobile. He immediately recognized the passenger as Glenn Davis, a Heisman Trophy-winning ball rusher who'd been voted to the Pro Bowl 12 years earlier while playing for the Rams (based then, as now, in LA).

Davis had been asked to scout the campus as a possible summer training site for the Cowboys. The athletic facilities were primitive in those early days, said Shoup, so he decided to tout the Conejo Valley's fine climate.

To everyone's surprise, the Cowboys chose to train at the fledgling college. And for 26 years until their departure in 1989, under president and general manager Tex Schramm and Coach Landry, the Cowboys embraced the community.

Even after a day of drills, players attended community events and mingled with the locals. Dallas' bright blue star shone on the Conejo and, as a result, Shoup was able to recruit football talent. As Dallas got better, Cal Lutheran got better, said Shoup, who coached the Kingsmen to the 1971 NAIA championship.

Beneath his kiddie-pool-sized cowboy hat, Tex Schramm had a head for business innovation, recalls Larry Horner, a Thousand Oaks City Councilman from 1974 to 1990 and a former mayor.

Bob Lilly gets an escort across the bridge.

And underneath his stoic expression, Cowboys Coach Tom Landry possessed a great sense of humor, Horner also remembers. The late Coach Landry had a joke for every occasion and a nickname for every player on the roster, he recalls.

Horner and his wife, Betty, rank team president Schramm among the shrewdest business people they've encountered.

"When you met him, he was fun-loving but, when you really talked to him, he had the vision that went beyond being a football executive. You'd think he was an economics professor at Harvard," Horner said.

Schramm, who passed away in 2003, introduced to the NFL instant replays, microphones for the referees and flashy cheerleaders

The Horner's are founding members of Cal Lutheran's Community Leaders Association. Larry Horner was awarded the university's Exemplar Medallion in 1991 and spoke at Commencement in 1981.

The importance of diversity

For some African-American players, especially the rookies, Thousand Oaks was the only predominantly white community they had been in. Kids raised in the Conejo Valley saw few black residents.

At first, Jim Evensen said, the black players and the white kids in the locker room would study each other. As the summer progressed and people got to know one another as individuals, the relationships grew comfortable.

The diversity the team brought with it spread to the greater community.

"When the Cowboys came, the town changed overnight," he said. "The demographics shifted. You would see black families in restaurants. It was awesome."

Jim Evensen's late father, Jim Sr., known as "Doc," was a popular Cal Lutheran geology professor.

LA Rams Training Moves to Cal Lutheran

NFL team to build temporary facility, fields on campus

California Lutheran University has entered into an agreement with the Los Angeles Rams to allow the team to base its training operations on the university's Thousand Oaks campus for at least two years.

The Rams will pay for and put in two practice fields, a paved parking lot and temporary modular buildings containing offices, training areas and locker rooms on the northwest corner of the campus. They can use the area for the next two to five years while they wait for their permanent training facility to be built.

The facility at Cal Lutheran will be the home base for about 130 athletes, coaches, trainers and other staff members. Regular season practices will be held from September through January starting this year, and off-season activities will be based at the facility from March through July starting in 2017.

The Rams plan to offer opportunities to the Cal Lutheran community, including internships for students, while their operations are based on campus.

Jared Goff

athletic teams will use the fields after the team departs. The university will also be able to use infrastructure built by the Rams for future athletic facilities it plans to add.

The region stands to benefit economically as the Rams players, coaches and other employees shop, dine, buy homes and send their children to schools in the area.

"We are excited to partner with Cal Lutheran to use their exceptional campus as the temporary home for team facilities that will be outstanding for our players and football staff," said Los Angeles Rams Chief Operating Officer and Executive Vice President Kevin Demoff. "The Rams look forward to becoming an integral part of the Cal Lutheran and Thousand Oaks communities as we establish our roots in Southern California."

Spectators watching a Ram's practice.

"We are thrilled to be part of the return of the Rams and NFL football to Los Angeles," said Cal Lutheran President Chris Kimball. "The Rams are investing in a major remaining part of our plans for the north campus and providing internships in a variety of fields to our students. It will be a great partnership."

The entrance to the facility will be off of Campus Drive, and the entire area will be enclosed in a fence. The facility will not be open to the public. The Rams will remove the temporary buildings and fencing when they leave.

Coach Sean McVay

The university has a long history of partnerships with high-level athletic teams. Cal Lutheran hosted the Dallas Cowboys' training camp from 1963 to 1989. The 2008 and 2012 U.S. Olympic men's water polo teams trained in Samuelson Aquatics Center. USA Team Handball, Los Angeles Lightning basketball and the Conejo Oaks collegiate summer baseball team have also held events on the campus.

The Mystique of The Blue Slippers

By John Leubtow

Superstition and ritual in sports is found in all sports venues. It is generally something initially developed in hindsight, almost by accident and then called upon in future events. Such superstitions arise when an athlete or team has an exceptional performance and then tries to establish "cause and effect" by trying to link any odd or unusual circumstances at the time with the performance breakthrough itself. After this link is made in the mind of the athlete or athletes, through visualization or guided imagery, which today is the very basis of sports psychology, the athlete or athletes call upon this "mojo" before each competition.

Cvijanovich summons the Mojo...

The ritual mystique of the Blue Slippers at then California Lutheran College began early in the 1964 season when our three-year-old football program reached its lowest ebb. Going in to the season, the young Kingsmen had won eight and lost eight after two seasons of suspect competition. Now, after a stunning 13-8 win over La Verne College, CLC was in the midst of a depressing losing streak. We lost to Occidental 28-7, were blanked by Southern Utah 26-0 and humiliated by Claremont- Mudd 28-13.

The next game was to be our longest road trip to play a very tough Colorado College team, and it was their homecoming game. In early October, the team flew into Colorado Springs and was met by an old city transit bus. We were taken to the edge of town to a very tired, single-story motel. The extra bags were put in the garage storage area among beat-up furniture, lost-and-found articles and miscellaneous hotel supplies. It had been a very long day, and we were tired and did not have much spirit or enthusiasm. We had eaten on the plane so the next order of business was to get back on the bus and go five miles downtown where the campus was located for a practice session. Many players had to stand on the crowded bus.

The college was on a beautiful site and the leaves had begun to change on the trees. We got off the bus below campus at the stadium field level in our game uniforms. The air was crisp and clean. As we began to loosen up and go through a light practice, our spirits began to rise and a vocal camaraderie began to assert itself. We were not intimidated but were like school kids on an outing.

This scene was then overshadowed from above with band music and cheers. Colorado College was having its homecoming pep rally. Clearly we could hear from the PA system that "...this team from California is in the midst of a losing streak and we have beaten them before and we expect them to be an easy opponent." With that, we Kingsmen began to shout and cheer and the entire Colorado College student body and alumni came over to the edge of the stadium to see what was going on.

The next day was fabulous. Sunny, but cool. We cleaned out our rooms, loaded up our gear and got on the bus to go to the college to tape and dress for the game. That Saturday we controlled the Colorado College gridiron, and as we found out after our victory, the game was recorded for local television to be played that evening. For me personally it was my best single game at Cal Lutheran, with over 120 yards rushing, a long punt return and one touchdown. The final score was 29-6. The line of John Paris, Fred Kemp, Jim Tschida, Cary Washburn, Roger Young and Jerry Palmquist, and Safety / Wide Receiver Skip Mooney and others was stunning. Everything went right. The holes were there for us on offense and not for Colorado on Defense. After the losing games we experienced prior to this game and as history has shown, this was the turning point in our team's confidence and morale and set the stage for the Blue Slippers and the beginning of multiple years of winning seasons, national rankings and a national championship.

That Saturday evening some of us on the team found a "local watering hole" for a little "imbibing" and to watch ourselves on TV. Although we discovered that we were not so welcome sitting there imbibing and cheering ourselves on as we "devoured the locals", but, fear not, for when you enter an establishment with "the big boys"...nobody bothers you.

The next morning as we boarded the bus to depart...the Blue Slippers...entered our lives. We were all seated and ready to leave when Coach Shoup and Coach Garrison entered the bus laughing. Standing in front of the bus, Coach Shoup honored us with accolades about his pleasure with the victory and then he held up this scummy, dirty, disgusting old pair of women's slippers and told us the cleaning woman had found them in my room and wanted to return them to me. Everybody laughed, but with this bit of humorous injection from the coaches and the joy of a great upset victory under our belts, the appearance of the Blue Slippers became identified with a magic moment in our lives...a magic performance, and I became "the keeper of the Blue Slippers" until 1967.

The next week, CLC routed George Fox 59-0. We then won 33-9 over Cal Tech and 14-8 over a very tough Cal State team. The following week, we went to Pomona but the slippers stayed home and we lost 14-8. The legend began. The last game was our Homecoming, and we beat UC Riverside 7-0. After that for some strange reason they became like a "mystical good luck charm", even being hung up in the locker room with a white shoelace for players to touch or give homage to at game time. Then suddenly, they mysteriously vanished.

During the next 10 years, CLU won eight state championships and a national title in 1971. In 1975 the CLU Kingsmen were the #1 rated team in both the NAIA Division II and the NCAA Division III, and even today we virtually control our conference and are nationally ranked.

POSTSCRIPT
The Blue Slippers "good luck symbol" has been with the Kingsmen ever since they were found. Although no one is ready to "bet the farm" that they hold a mysterious power that transformed the Kingsmen into the powerhouse they have become, no one is also willing to question this possibility.

The legend will continue...

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1975

JIM MURRAY

All the Kingsmen

He's clearly one of the game's four-star coaches. He'll be playing for his second national championship in four years Saturday. In 14 years, he's won 100 games. He's lost only 30.

He's done this without Heisman Trophy winners, without bonus babies, big staffs, alumni slush funds, massive junior college transfers. His squad is not a pipeline to the pros. Only one of his boys stuck it out in the NFL.

He doesn't have the resources of a major state university with a student body the size of Cincinnati. His school has 1,100 students. He does not have the luxury of a long and glorious tradition. The school is only 15 years old. The football program is one year less.

You would think, all things considered, Robert Shoup would be being mentioned in the same breath with Knute Rockne, Vince Lombardi, Hurry Up Yost or Pop Warner. You would think, at least, that NFL expansion franchises would be unloading buckets of money and promises of fringe benefits on his front porch. You would think Woody or Bear or John would be studying films of his games in secret.

Bob Shoup was a 5-9, 150-pound quarterback at UC Santa Barbara in his playing days. He was a high school coach when California Lutheran formed its campus in Thousand Oaks in 1961. The school took up football the following year. It was Shoup's only losing year, 3-4. The team was a hodgepodge of jayvees, freshmen and varsities.

Cal Lutheran had one advantage going in: The Dallas Cowboys trained there in the summer, and coach Shoup and his tiny staff "got an advanced doctoral degree study in modern techniques of football every year" from Tom Landry and the Cowboys' pro coaches, who were generous with their time and their films.

Like Landry, Bob Shoup has a highly sophisticated system. "It was tough to coach," he admits. "But it was also tough to defend." It was also tough to man. A complicated, 15-different-"looks" offensive set cannot be made to work with a field full of clumsy students.

With no scholarships, no Heisman prospects, no promise of being No. 1 draft choices, how did Shoup manage to find the athletes to run his space-age attack?

"You have to realize the so-called 'blue chip' kid is gone by the time we get there. USC, UCLA, Cal, Stanford, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Arizona and San Diego State have long since picked them off," explained Shoup. "So we have to look for other qualities. You look for team captains. They may not be 6-3, 220, but you know they have qualities that make up for it, or they wouldn't be team leaders. You are not looking for that great big stud lineman but you are looking for some inspirational-type ballplayers who might have been overlooked as too small, too slow, too modest—but who made it in their league anyway.

"You'd be surprised at how many good football players and good persons are overlooked in that first big sweep by the big boys. What we aim at are student-body presidents, leader-type individuals. We offer them a quality education in a family-type atmosphere, and a football squad that is, in some respects, a self-governing body."

The Kingsmen, as Cal Lutheran calls its purple-and-gold team, have won 10 and lost none this year. They also had an undefeated season in 1971 when they won the NAIA Division II (small college) national championship, and they are playing for that same championship against Texas Lutheran at Thousand Oaks Saturday at 1 o'clock.

They are, optimistically, putting in 1,000 new seats for the game, but, as usual, don't expect Howard Cosell, Frank Gifford or Alex Karras. But, the undefeated team has averaged 420 yards a game on offense and yielded only 68 yards a game on the ground (their passing defensive yardage is 125 yards per game). They have scored 350 points, giving up only 78.

I'd like to see Woody Hayes do it suiting up pure students, high school captains, and student body presidents. The only thing hard would be to do it suiting up college presidents—or bank presidents.

The Tradition Continues

Coach Lugo on 2021 Season

"Forward into battle go the Kingsmen, roaring out again to meet the foe!"

After a nearly two-year gap, the words of the school's Victory Song have never rung truer than they do for the 2021 version of the California Lutheran University football team.

Acting as though there were no nearly two-year gap since their last game, the '21 Kingsmen roared out to 37-7 and 42-28 triumphs over Southwestern (Texas) and Pacific Lutheran (Wash.), respectively. The latter game wasn't nearly as close as the score would indicate as the Lu ballers scored 35 consecutive points to take a 42-7 edge early in the final period before the first CLU turnovers of the season helped the visitors to score three times.

At this writing, the Kingsmen were seeking their first 3-0 start since 2015 with a road trip to Tacoma, Wash., to face the University of Puget Sound.

Through two games, the Kingsmen had rolled up an average of 463.5 yards per game on offense, 296.5 passing and 167 on the ground, while allowing an average of only 242 yards defensively, 140.5 rushing and but 101.5 through the air. The defense tied a school record in its very first outing, holding Southwestern to zero yards passing to equal the school record set by the powerhouse 1965 squad against Caltech.

The CLU offense has been led by junior quarterback Nick Lasher (Norco/Norco), who replaced departed all-Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference quarterback Cesar De Leon. Lasher, who had never thrown a collegiate pass, missed his first six throws but then completed 36 of 49 throws for 593 yards and six touchdowns, with his first completion a 63-yard bomb to senior wide receiver James Holland (Lancaster/Paraclete).

A stout offensive line led by sophomore center Caden Blythe (San Clemente/Idaho state University) with guards Max Bahou (San Clemente/Crean Lutheran), a junior, and Max Thorne (Agoura Hills/Agoura), a sophomore, and tackles Rudy Lovato (Moreno Valley/Valley View), a senior, and Ryan Kircher (Yuma, Ariz./Yuma Catholic, a junior, allowed Lasher plenty of time to throw, giving up no sacks and only one hurry in the two games. The only other time the defense got to him resulted in a roughing penalty.

Through the two games, Lasher had completed passes to 10 different receivers, led by junior speedster Cameron Jones (Sherman Oaks/Notre Dame), one of two returning all-SCIAC offensive performers from 2019, with seven grabs for 152 yards, a 21.7-yard average, and four touchdowns. Jones also averaged 36 yards on two kickoff returns in the two games.

The other all-SCIAC star, senior Jajuan Thomas (Escondido/San Pasquale), injured an ankle against PLU in making his seventh catch of the season; his status was unknown at this writing. He had 116 yards for a 16.6-yard average.

Other key members of a deep receiving corps include Holland with four catches for 135 yards and the long touchdown and senior tight end Ben Anderson (El Segundo/Valor Christian) with eight catches for 69 yards and a score.

On the ground, senior runningback Jackson Taylor (Anaheim/Servite) has led the way with 157 yards on 35 carries, a 4.5-yard average, and three scores. Junior fullback Reid Huseman (Saugus/Saugus) has added 95 yards on 26 tries, a 3.7-yard average, and a touchdown.

The defense is led by a pair of returning all-SCIAC performers, senior end Caleb Casimere (Orinda/Miramonte) and senior inside linebacker Connor McDermott (Ventura/Ventura).

Taking up the mantle of departed team MVP and all-conference linebacker Ethan Pulley, McDermott led the way through first two games with 13 tackles (seven solo) and shared a tackle for loss. Casimere was close behind with 11 tackles (five solo) with a tackle for loss.

They weren't alone. Junior tackle Maxwell Nazarko (Van Alstyne, Texas/Van Alstyne) had 11 tackles (four solo) and forced a fumble, while senior end Hector Palacios (Granada Hills/Pasadena City College) added 10 tackles (five solo) with a sack and a fumble recovery. Joining them in the line have been junior nose guard Justice Forbes (Valencia/Valencia) and sophomore end Jackson White (Encino/Crespi Carmelite).

However, White suffered a knee injury in the PLU game; his backup is Palacio.

Listed as an outside linebacker, Zion Brown (Victorville/Oak Hills) has taken up some of the slack caused by graduation of All-American Obadiah Dees. Through two games Brown has 12 tackles (five solo), including one tackle for loss. He also returned an interception 33 yards for a touchdown and broke up another pass.

The other member of the linebacking corps is junior inside back Chris Diaz (Bethesda, Md./Bethesda Chevy Chase) with seven tackles (four solo) and a half tackle for loss.

The defensive backfield starters are cornerbacks JD Lang (Indio/Shadow Hills), a senior, and Elijah Jones Los Angeles/Westlake), a freshman; strong safety Gabe Hernandez (La Habra/La Habra), a junior; and free safety Keshawn Charles (Stockton/Lincoln), a senior. Through two games, Lang had six tackles (three solo) and broke up two passes; Hernandez had seven tackles (five solo) and a pass breakup; Charles had five tackles (three solo) and a breakup; and Jones assisted on a tackle and had two breakups.

Another hole first-year coach Anthony Lugo had to fill was in the kicking game, where all-SCIAC kicker/punter Christian Antezana, and his placekicking backup, Morgan Salzwedel, have graduated.

Junior Matthews Myers (SimI Valley/Royal) has taken over the placekicking duties, converting eight of nine points after touchdown and adding a 19-yard field goal in his only try. His backup, sophomore Rick Roberts (Santa Clarita/Trinity Classical Academy) converted both tries from the spot.

Junior punter Steve Sanchez (Oxnard/Ventura College) only had to kick four times in the first two games, averaging 39.3 yards a try.

The long snapper is senior Alex Mathewson (Carlsbad/Concordia University-St. Paul).

A total of 118 players opened training camp in August under Lugo, who became the fifth Kingsmen head coach upon the resignation of Ben McEnroe earlier this year after 14 years and five conference titles at the helm.

The heart and soul in sports*

OUR VISION

To see the world impacted for Jesus Christ through the influence of coaches and athletes.

OUR MISSION

To present to coaches and athletes, and all whom they influence, the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, serving Him in their relationships and in the fellowship of the church.

OUR VALUES

- Integrity We will demonstrate Christ-like wholeness, privately and publicly.
- Serving We will model Jesus' example of serving.
- Teamwork We will express our unity in Christ.
- Excellence We will honor and glorify God in all we do.

OUR MINISTRIES

COACHES Ministry: Coaches are the heart of FCA. Our philosophy in Coaches Ministry is to minister "to and through the coach" to see transformation. FCA ministers to coaches through Bible studies, prayer support, discipleship and mentoring, resources, outreach events and retreats.

CAMPUS Ministry: FCA focuses on equipping, enabling, empowering and encouraging student-athletes, coaches and adult leaders to impact and influence their campus for Christ. This is accomplished through certified ministry that is initiated and led by student-athletes, sponsored by coaches, supported by staff, established on junior high, high school or college campuses and meets on a regular basis. There are four ministry types: Club Huddles, Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles and Coaches Huddles.

CAMP Ministry: Camps are a time of "inspiration and perspiration." FCA provides athletes and coaches the opportunity to reach their God-given potential by offering comprehensive athletic, spiritual and leadership training in a camp environment. We create an athletic environment that produces spiritual transformation in the lives of coaches and athletes in a camp setting. These types of camps are Sports camp, Leadership camp, Coaches camp, Power camp, Partnership camp, Team camp and International camp.

COMMUNITY Ministry: With the majority of athletes playing sports in the community (non-campus programs), FCA is ministering to the club, recreational and youth sports teams with the goal of establishing on-going ministry for coaches and athletes to compete for Jesus Christ with character, passion and excellence. This includes any off-campus opportunities such as Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles, Coaches Huddles, Club Huddles and FCA Sports Teams.

Billy Busch

This award is presented to an individual the 5th Quarter Football Club has deemed to have gone ABOVE AND BEYOND in the support of the efforts of the 5th Quarter Football Club and Cal Lutheran Football. Don DeMars was the first recipient to earn this award for his exemplary support in both areas over the years.

THE CLU 5TH QUARTER FOOTBALL CLUB
IS PROUD TO PRESENT
DON KINDRED
THE DON DEMARS MEMORIAL AWARD

In the 1978 and 1979 seasons, Don Kindred roamed the Cal Lutheran defensive backfield. Those seasons netted a Kingsmen team record of 15-4-1, including a National Playoff game.

Kindred ended his two-year career with 15 interceptions, returning 2 for touchdowns.

He graduated in 1980 with a Bachelor's in Communication Arts.

After graduating, Don moved to San Clemente where he opened a typesetting, photography and graphic design agency, Kindred Associates, in 1982. Don and his wife, Shelly, currently publish the San Clemente Journal, a respected regional publication in South Orange County, now in its 25th year.

Don has served as President of the San Clemente Chamber of Commerce, the San Clemente Kiwanis Club and the San Clemente Dons. He was a founding board member of the Friends of San Clemente Beaches Parks & Recreation Foundation, the San Clemente Sports Hall of Fame Committee, The San Clemente Political Action Committee and the PierPride preservation group.

When the 5th quarter was founded, Kindred volunteered his services to create an annual program that would be worthy of the Kingsmen Football tradition.

The 5th Quarter Board of Directors are extremely proud of Don and Shelly's accomplishments and his professionalism in publishing our "60 Years of Kingsmen Football" and each of our previous reunion programs.

The Captains

Football Team Captains are elected by vote of the players or appointed by the coaching staff from the offense, defense and special teams based on leadership on and off the field. Their role on the field is nothing more than representing the team during the coin toss. If they are on the field during a penalty, they are typically the ones who communicate with the referee about accepting or declining the penalty.

Cal Lutheran Has Become a West Coast "Cradle of Coaches"

"First you coach the person, then you coach the player."

-Rod Marinelli, Ca Lu Graduate. NFL Lifetime Achievement Award Winner.

From the very inception of Cal Lutheran's football program, our legendary Coach Bob Shoup established a strong foundation for coaching built upon the values and characteristics that he had absorbed from his parents, his mentors and his faith. These have seemingly endured through his players and their attraction to and application of these "lessons of life" in their own coaching careers.

- This foundation is based upon integrity; respecting each player's interests, life and abilities and expecting this same kind of integrity from each player themselves.
- It is based upon gratitude; being thankful for the life you have been given by God.
- Finally, it is based upon applying yourself diligently towards your interests and your dreams through hard work, discipline, courage, passion, intelligence and a respect for others.

When a coach passes on to his players his own "lessons of life" so that they make it a part of their lives, this is the key to finding happiness and success and making meaningful contributions.

The 5th Quarter Football Club, as part of our quest to honor our Kingsmen traditions, has been trying to find, track, contact and develop a list of every football player from CLU that went into coaching. The 143 coaches below are representative of over 170 CLU football players who have followed their playing years with coaching ... and the list is growing. Remarkable!

CHRIS ERSKINE/FAN OF THE HOUSE Looking for Football Love in All the Right Places

by Chris Erskine@latimes.com

Reprinted from LA Times, October 5, 2011

The other morning I woke up to find a football in my bed. Down where the dog should have been, a Football. Guess I'd had a little too much grape juice the night before, at least that's what I'm telling my wife. I snuggled the football. Whispered sweet nothings. Made a lunch date. Spooned.

See, football is more than a one-night stand with me. It's a chronic, lifelong commitment. I've studied football back to the days of Cactus Face Duggan. Yes, he was an actual player (for the Giants.)

Can you imagine a player with that nickname today? They all look sort of cactus-faced to me. As if the game isn't torturous enough, they have to punish themselves with a chin strap across scratchy three-day stubble.

Anyway, I followed my muse--football--out to Thousand Oaks the other night and found yet another thing to love about it: Division III games. The ticket price was right (free), in a brand spanking new stadium on the Cal Lutheran campus. I hate to use the word spanking around college kids, because it just gives them ideas. Believe it or not, I used to be one.

And oh, what a game. Best I've seen all year and maybe in my all-time top five. You have a top five? I'll get to mine in a moment.

First, a few words about Division III football. It's like "Hoosiers," except outdoors. Take away the money, the agents, the NFL aspirations and what you get is football for football's sake. Gee, there are 100 kids on each roster, and the fans are spilling out of the stands and lining the fences, like those pictures you see of high school games in Texas.

ON this night, the University of Redlands (ranked 13th in the nation) is visiting archrival Cal Lutheran (ranked 20th). Think UCLA versus USC scaled down to where students sometimes dash out of the stands to talk to players along the sidelines before being herded back into the stands. None of the college kids thought to bring a jacket, naturally, so they all sit in the stands shivering and huddled together like puppies.

The caliber of play? Better than you might expect. Most played good high school ball. Maybe they were a step slow or 20 pounds too light. Maybe they came from a messed-up high school program, playing for a clueless coach. There are a million reasons some kids get a shot at the big time and others don't. Just ask any 24-year-old former running back stacking groceries.

What these non-scholarship players don't lack is intensity. In the unforgiving world of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, one loss can drop you out of playoff contention. Three hours, this game, and nobody takes a play off -- not even a wide receiver.

The night gets off to a rousing start. The student section sings the national anthem so loudly that it nearly drowns out the band. Right away, you know you're in a different place.

Then Redlands comes out and stings Cal Lutheran early. The Kingsmen hadn't given up a first-quarter score all year, and suddenly they're down 14-0, then 24-0 at halftime, largely on the scrambling of Redlands quarterback Chad Hurst.

It's a big lead, almost demoralizing. But something doesn't feel quite settled.

Quarterback Jake Laudenslayer

Sure enough, in a storybook second half, Cal Lutheran quarterback Jake Laudenslayer, a big kid out of Modesto, finds former Charter Oaks High receiver Eric Rogers in the end zone, on a rainbow pass that might have needed FAA clearance. Came down with a Delta flight attendant on board.

Momentum, Kingsmen. Two more long touchdown drives make the score, 24-21, Redlands still in front. Ant then a punt pins the Kingsmen back on their own two-yard line with three minutes to play, after a harrowing special teams switch in which Cal Lutheran might have had 40 kids on the field, but there were so many the referee crew just gave up counting.

The Kingsmen drive for the next three minutes and 98 yards, on the back of Laudenslayer throwing little slants and marching down the field like Patton into French Morocco.

With 16 seconds to go, and no timeouts, Cal Lutheran scores from the one and little William Rolland Stadium goes frappin' bananas. Cal Lutheran wins 28-24.

"I've been watching these games for 45 years," says giddy alum Dave Starleaf, "and that's the best game I ever saw."

So finally, my to five finishes of all time:

1. Green Bay--Cowboys, Ice Bowl.
2. Boise State--Oklahoma, Fiesta Bowl.
3. Eli Manning drive, Super Bowl XLII.
4. Audrey Hepburn slays the psycho in "Wait Until Dark."
5. Cal Lutheran slays Redlands, Oct. 1, 2011. Worth every penny, this game. Oh, that's right, it was free.

"With 16 seconds to go, and no timeouts, Cal Lutheran scores from the one and little William Rolland Stadium goes frappin' bananas."

THE CANDYMAN COMETH

He's Our Kingsmen Commander of the Candy Toss

How sweet it is! When the Cal Lutheran football team scores, everybody's sweet tooth gets satisfied by Karsten Lundring, a 1965 graduate of Cal Lutheran who has supported Kingsmen football for 54 years. His tradition of hurling candy into the stands every time Cal Lutheran scores began over 30 years ago. "Cal Lutheran scored a touchdown and I had a pack of Candy with me that I threw, and it's been a tradition ever since."

What is Our Purpose?

The Mission of the 5th Quarter Football Club is to engage former players and supporters in a life-long relationship with California Lutheran university and its football program.

What are Our Values?

Friendship - We cherish and value the enduring friendships developed through participation in CLU's Football program.

Loyalty - We are loyal to one another, our coaches, the faculty and staff of California Lutheran University.

Commitment - We are committed to the mission of CLU and seek to support the university through our time, talent and treasure.

Tradition - Preserving the University's football history and traditions is at the very heart of the goals and objectives we seek to achieve as a support group for the University.

I'm actually saving for my retirement.

A smart long-term plan for your future means more healthy, happy living, now.

At University Village Thousand Oaks, adding more to your retirement lifestyle means saving more, too. Rather than fluctuating costs and time-consuming chores, we offer on-site services designed to help you live better, for longer — housecleaning, multiple restaurant dining venues, all exterior and interior maintenance, wellness programs, transportation, 24-hour security services and more. Plus, access to long-term care is included, if you ever need it, with a repayable entrance fee — all for a lot less than you might think.

Don't settle for less.

Call 1-866-952-9177 today to request your free comparison chart, and see how much more you'll get out of life at University Village.
