Cal Lutheran Has Become a West Coast "Cradle of Coaches"

"First you coach the person, then you coach the player."

-Rod Marinelli, Ca Lu Graduate. NFL Lifetime Achievement Award Winner.

From the very inception of Cal Lutheran's football program, our legendary Coach Bob Shoup established a strong foundation for coaching built upon the values and characteristics that he had absorbed from his parents, his mentors and his faith. These have seemingly endured through his players and their attraction to and application of these "lessons of life" in their own coaching careers.

- This foundation is based upon integrity; respecting each player's interests, life and abilities and expecting this same kind of integrity from each player themselves.
- It is based upon gratitude; being thankful for the life you have been given by God.
- Finally, it is based upon applying yourself diligently towards your interests and your dreams through hard work, discipline, courage, passion, intelligence and a respect for others.

When a coach passes on to his players his own "lessons of life" so that they make it a part of their lives, this is the key to finding happiness and success and making meaningful contributions.

The 5th Quarter Football Club, as part of our quest to honor our Kingsmen traditions, has been trying to find, track, contact and develop a list of every football player from CLU that went into coaching. The 148 coaches below are representative of over 200 CLU football players who have followed their playing years with coaching ... and the list is growing. Remarkable!

CRADLE OF COACHES

West

On April 20, 2024 the CRADLE OF COACHES WEST produced the First Coaches Clinic in Ventura County for High School coaches. It was the objective of the 5th Quarter Football Club, with the support of Cal Lutheran University to produce a clinic that would: 1) Provide attending coaches with at least one area of information that would make them a better coach as they worked to develop their players. 2) To give the attendees exposure to Cal Lutheran University and the opportunities the University offers to their players. We felt very fortunate to have over 125 coaches and players in attendance for our first clinic. Our feedback has been one of overwhelming success in meeting our objectives.

Our speakers--all Cal Lutheran Alumni did an outstanding job covering the various responsibilities of a football coach. Rod Marinelli opened the clinic as the keynote speaker with "HEAD FOOTBALL COACHING AT ALL LEVELS". After two 1 hour breakout sessions to focus on various positions including: O Line; RB; WR/TE; QB; D Line; LB; DB. After lunch the attendees reconvened for presentations from: Pete Alamar (Special Teams Rice) SPECIAL TEAMS FOCUS; Dave Aranda (Head Coach Baylor) ADAPTING TO CHANGES ON THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL LANDSCAPE; Mike Sheppard (Retired College/NFL) LESSONS LEARNED AT CLU AND 37 YEARS OF COACHING; Hank Bauer (NFL Player/Coach) BE YOUR AUTHENTIC SELF; Anthony Lugo (Head Coach Cal Lutheran) CLU KINGSMEN FOOTBALL FUTURE.

On the following pages you will find biographies on each of these very successful Cal Lutheran Alumni coaches. As you will see, their coaching experience includes numerous College assignments and NFL assignments over their respective careers. We feel extremely fortunate to have them on our team and to be able to call all of them KINGSMEN.

We are already making plans for the SECOND Coaches Clinic in the spring 2025. Many of these coaches will be making a return presentation along with additional Cal Lutheran Alumni coaches.

If you are interested in attending the 2025 clinic, we will be putting information on our website: 5thquarterfootballclub.org as we complete our plans for the clinic.

ONCE A KINGSMEN – ALWAYS A KINGSMEN!

Mike Sheppard

As a Kingsmen player, Mike was a member of CLU's 1971 NAIA National Championship team and was chosen "Outstanding Lineman" in the championship game. He had 60 catches for 956 yards and 7 touchdowns his final two years, earning 1971 and 1972

All District III honors and was named to the 1972 All-Lutheran College Team. He was selected to join the Cal Lutheran Hall of Fame in 2006. Mike spent 37 years in coaching after graduating from Cal

Lutheran, 19 years at the college level and 18 years in the NFL. His college assignments included: Head Coach at Long Beach State and New Mexico and assistant coach at BYU, USIU, Idaho State, Kansas and Cal. His NFL assignments included: Offensive Coordinator of the San Diego Chargers, Buffalo Bills and New Orleans Saints. He was the wide receivers coach of the Cincinnati

Bengals from 2007--2010, Jacksonville Jaguars quarterback coach in 2011 and retired from coaching after the 2011 season.

He is in his 11th year working for Fellowship of Christian Athletes as their Pacific Southwest Region Director Coaches Ministry.

During all his years in coaching and with FCA, his wife Cathie has been at his side. They are the proud parents of 4 children and 13 grandchildren. They live in San Clemente, California.

Pete Alamar

Pete Alamar was a two year offensive lineman who transferred to Cal Lutheran in 1980 after playing on a national playoff team with Western Oregon. We was a two year letterman at Cal Lu and played on the playoff team in 1982. He is a native of Thousand Oaks and earned his Bachelor's degree in physical education in 1983. He started his coaching career as Offensive Line Coach for the Kingsmen from 1985--1986.

Alamar's specialists and Special Teams have consistently been among the best in the nation during his coaching career. He has coached 8 teams with 10 or more wins including Cal--2, Arizona--2 and Stanford--4 and has been a part of 18 bowl teams. His Fresno State team blocked 18 kicks during his 2 year stay with the Bulldogs. He was named Special Teams Coach of the Year in 2013. He had a Lou Groza finalist in 2022. Pete has spent 26 of his last 30 years coaching in the Pac--12 at Arizona, Cal and Stanford. In 2023 he moved to the Rice University Owls as Assistant Head Coach/Special Teams Coordinator.

Pete and his wife Tina have 3 daughters--Alicia, Alexandra and Amanda.

Rod Marinelli

If you were to look up the term "football coaching lifer" in a sports encyclopedia, it should have a picture of Rod Marinelli next to the article.

From his first coaching gig, as defensive coordinator at his high school alma mater, Rosemead, in 1973-75, to his retirement after spending the 2020 season as interim defensive coordinator for the Las Vegas Raiders, Marinelli spent 48 years as a college and pro coach, all but three as a top assistant (His one head coaching stint was with the Detroit Lions in 2006-08).

Out of high school, Marinelli spent one year at Utah and two in Vietnam, who received a Purple Heart for injuries received and also battled malaria.

Returning to civilian life, Marinelli, one of three Vietnam vets on the team, played a key role on the line as the Kingsmen rolled to an 8-0-2 record and the NAIA Division II championship. He capped his Kingsmen career with second team NAIA All-American honors.

After joining the staff at Rosemead as defensive coordinator, the 1972 CLC graduate moved on to Utah State for six years (1976-82), five as defensive line coach and one as offensive line and special teams coach. Then, it was on to Cal for nine years as defensive line coach and later assistant head coach. He followed that up with three at Arizona State as as assistant head coach and defensive line coach and a year at USC in the latter position.

Then it was on to the NFL for next quarter century.

First, he spent seven years in Tampa Bay as defensive line/assistant head coach before his three seasons as head man in Detroit.

Moving back to assistant roles, he joined the Chicago Bears as assistant head coach and defensive line coach and defensive coordinator; seven years with the Dallas Cowboys defensive line coach and defensive coordinator; and a final year as interim defensive coordinator in Las Vegas before announcing his retirement after the 2020 season.

Now 72, Marinelli recently was honored by the Pro Football Writers of America with their Paul "Dr. Z" Zimmerman Award, which is named for the former Sports Illustrated pro football writer and given for lifetime achievement as an assistant coach.

Rod and his wife, Barbara (Torres), have two daughters, Chris and Gina. In keeping with the NFL theme, Chris is married to Joe Berry Line Backer Coach/Run Game Co-ordinator with Miami Dolphins, and they have four children. Gina is executive chef at Las Vegas Italian hot spot La Strega.

Hank Bauer

Hank Bauer is arguably the greatest running back in Cal Lutheran history, and one of the greatest special teams players in San Diego Chargers history.

The second of the football-playing Bauer brothers (his elder brother, the late Jim Bauer, played a key role on both sides of the line in the Kingsmen's 1971 NAIA championship season before a lengthy coaching and administrative career in the Antelope Valley), led the Kingsmen to their only unbeaten, untied regular season and a berth in their second NAIA championship game in 1975, his senior season.

At that time, he held Kingsmen records for career carries (502), touchdowns in a game (4), a season (17) and a career (38), as well as yards in a season (1,024) and a career (2,659) and all-purpose yards in a career (2,998).

His 38 career TDS remain the school standard, and he remains the only Cal Lutheran running back to rush for four touchdowns twice in a game.

Taking his talents south to San Diego, he spent six seasons for the Chargers, starring on special teams and as a short yardage/goal line specialist.

In 1981, he replaced an injured Kellen Winslow at tight end vs. Cleveland and caught a 4-yard TD pass. In 1978-79 he served as one of the team's running backs and scored 17 times, including 16 rushing.

In 1978 he was the starter for four games. A year later he was the short-yardage back, carrying 18 times for 28 yards, eight touchdowns and nine first downs.

But it was on special teams that he stood out. He was named NFL Special Teams Player of the Year three times in his six seasons, making an astounding 52 special teams tackles in one season, 1981. He made seven tackles in one game and 147 in his career

After a neck injury forced his retirement in 1983, Bauer coached the Chargers' special teams from 1983-86 before turning to a career in broadcasting.

He worked 16 years as a local San Diego sports anchor, 17 as the team's analyst on radio broadcasts and continues to serve today as an analyst for Sports USA Network.

Mark Weber

Mark Weber '80 was a two-time Honorable Mention Small College

All-American at offensive guard in 1978 & 79. He began his coaching career as on offensive line and strength coach at Cal Lutheran and has coached at 14 different colleges and universities during his over 40 year career. Weber has been associated with some of the nation's top passing offenses and has been in 18 bowl games as a coach, which includes Utah State where as offensive line and assistant head coach he coached ten linemen that earned All Mountain West honors for the Aggies.

He spent six seasons at BYU helping the Cougars reach six bowl games and the 2007 Mountain West Championship. He also has extensive Pac-10 coaching experience. He coached the offensive line at UCLA for 7 years, helping guide the Bruins to five bowl appearances including the 1999 Rose Bowl, and 2 Pac-10 titles. Mark was the assistant head coach and offensive line coach at UNLV for three seasons (1994-96) where the 1996 Rebels ranked ninth in Division I-A in passing and the 1994 team was the Las Vegas Bowl champion. Mark's most recent coaching assignments have included: Fresno State, Hawaii, Washington State and Idaho State. He retired from coaching after the 2023 season. Mark is married to his wife Kathy and they have 2 daughters.

Tim Lins

Tim spent 28 years coaching high school football. After spending 10 years at Encino Crespi, he moved to Head Coach at Moorpark High School where he coached for the next 18 years. He won over 100 games during that period, taking Moorpark to the playoffs 13 times, including 4 trips to the CIF finals. Hewas also the first NFL ABC7 High School Coach of the Week in 2016. Tim retired from coaching the football team in 2018 and has remained with Moorpark H.S. as a teacher and their Strength and Conditioning coach. In October 2022 Tim was named the first Head Coach of the Moorpark High School's Girls' Flag Football Program. His comment as to why he took the position: "It's a chance to start a program from the ground up. That will be fun."

Tim resides in Moorpark with his wife Mary-Therese. They have two sons. Jake and his wife Alyssa both Cal Lu Alumni and Vernon who also played football at Cal Lutheran.

Dave Aranda

Dave Aranda has made his mark as a prominent figure in the world of college football. With the commencement of his fourth season as the head coach at Baylor University in 2023, Aranda's journey in coaching has been one of dedication and achievement. He took the reins of the Baylor Bears during a tumultuous period marked by the Covid-19 lockdowns, and his leadership has been instrumental in shaping the team's trajectory.

Aranda's coaching tenure at Baylor University, spanning over four seasons, showcases a record of 23 wins and 25 losses. Within this record lies a significant accomplishment—a triumphant victory in the Big 12 championship. The pinnacle of his coaching career at Baylor was reached in 2021 when the team achieved a remarkable 12-2 record, a testament to Aranda's strategic prowess. This achievement earned him the esteemed title of conference Coach of the Year, a recognition that underscored his ability to lead and inspire his team even in the face of challenges.

Before his foray into coaching, Aranda's own football journey began at Redlands High School. However, a fractured shoulder prematurely ended his playing career, leading him to transition into coaching. He commenced his coaching journey as an assistant at his alma mater. A pivotal juncture came when he crossed paths with a friend attending Cal Lutheran, which inspired Aranda to rekindle his aspirations of playing football. Despite the persistence of his injuries, he delved into coaching as a student assistant, assuming the role of linebackers coach for the Kingsmen from 1996 to 1999. Interestingly, during this period, his roommate was none other than Tom Herman, who currently serves as the head coach of Florida Atlantic.

Aranda's pursuit of knowledge continued as he earned a bachelor's degree in philosophy from Cal Lutheran in 1999. His thirst for understanding the intricacies of football led him to Texan Tech University, where he pursued graduate studies while also serving as a graduate assistant for the Red Raiders from 2000 to 2002. This marked the beginning of his evolution into a skilled football strategist and mentor.

As Aranda's coaching acumen grew, he embarked on diverse coaching roles that contributed to his well-rounded expertise. From linebackers coach at Houston to defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Cal Lutheran, Aranda's journey shaped his approach to the game. Notably, his stint as defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Delta State University added another layer to his coaching repertoire.

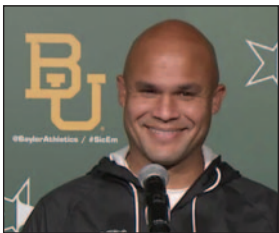

In 2008, Aranda took on the role of defensive line coach at the University of Hawaii, where his influence quickly became apparent. Under his guidance, the team's defense exhibited remarkable growth, showcasing talent and earning noteworthy victories. Aranda's innovative defensive schemes proved effective, leading to victories against formidable opponents.

Aranda's tenure at various institutions saw him consistently pushing the boundaries of defensive strategy. His time at Wisconsin, both as a linebackers coach and later as a defensive coordinator, was marked by impressive accomplishments. His adeptness at creating strategic defensive formations allowed the Badgers to secure victories and attain high rankings in defensive categories nationwide.

In 2016, Aranda assumed the role of defensive coordinator at Louisiana State University (LSU), a pivotal moment in his career. His strategic prowess contributed significantly to LSU's triumphant journey to the FCS football championship in 2019. This victory underscored his ability to orchestrate successful defensive tactics on the grandest stage.

The year 2020 marked a new chapter in Aranda's journey as he took on the role of head coach at Baylor University, solidifying his position as a leader capable of steering a team to success. Alongside his coaching accomplishments, Aranda values his role as a family man. His wife, Dione, and their three children constitute a vital support system, underpinning his achievements.

In conclusion, Dave Aranda's path from his early days as a player to his current stature as a seasoned head coach is a testament to his unwavering commitment to the game. His journey is marked by adaptability, innovation, and the pursuit of excellence. As he continues to shape the Baylor Bears and leave an indelible mark on college football, Aranda's legacy remains one of dedication, strategic brilliance, and the relentless pursuit of victory.

Ben McEnroe

Once, Kingsmen, always a Kingsmen. That's probably no truer a statement for any former Cal Lutheran player than it is for Ben McEnroe, who became the fourth Kingsmen head coach in 2007 after Scott Squires departed to Canada.

McEnroe joined the Cal Lutheran program as an offensive lineman in 1990, Joe Harper's first season, after transferring from Bakersfield College. He was to prove a mainstay of the Kingsmen line for three seasons, culminating in first team all-SCIAC recognition his senior year, 1992.

He remained with the program the next six seasons as offensive line coach under Harper and Squires before moving on to Humboldt State. In 2003, he became head coach at Chaminade Prep in West Hills, where he led the Eagles to four successful seasons before returning to Cal Lutheran roots.

In his first six seasons heading the Kingsmen program, he led Cal Lutheran to only its second SCIAC title, sharing it with Redlands, and then on to unprecedented success from 2009-2012 – four straight conference titles and NCAA playoff appearances, along with 28 consecutive SCIAC victories from the end of 2008 through the conference opener in 2013.

Cal Lutheran nearly made it six straight conference titles, but a three-point loss to Occidental in 2008 determined the conference title holder.

While the remainder of his time at Cal Lutheran wasn't quite as successful, McEnroe's teams still were 59-26 against SCIAC opponents.

No win was bigger than the 2011 game with arch-rival Redlands in the first game played at William Rolland Stadium. The Kingsmen trailed in the "blackout" game (players and fans all dressed in black for the occasion), 24-0 at halftime and were still behind 24-7 entering the final quarter before scoring three straight times for a 28-24 win. After Jake Laudenslayer twice hit Eric Rogers for touchdowns to cut the margin to three, the senior quarterback pushed in from a yard out for the winning score with 16 seconds left on the clock.

That victory lit a fire under the Kingsmen, who scored no fewer than 52 points in the last six regular-season games before falling in a close game at Linfield in the first round of the NCAA playoffs. Both losses that season came at the hands of the 10-1 Wildcats in Oregon, the first coming in the season opener.

Eight Kingsmen earned All-American honors during McEnroe's tenure, led by defensive back Obasi Dees, who was named to the D3football.com first team in 2019 after being named honorable mention the previous year and to the American Football Coaches 2019 second team.

Defensive end Jacob Calderon also a multiple All-American, earning first team AFCA and AP Little All-American honors and honorable mention on the D3 team in 2008.

Perhaps the best-known Kingsmen during the McEnroe era was the aforementioned Rogers, who shattered all the single season and career receiving and scoring marks in the Cal Lutheran record book en route to first team D3 All-American honors in 2012 and to a standout career in the Canadian Football League. A member of the Calgary Stampeders in 2014 and '15 and again in 2018 and '19, he was part of two Grey Cup championship teams, in 2014 and 2018, and earning CFL All-Star status in 2015 and CFL West honors in 2015 and '19. After the 2020 season was cancelled by the COVID-19 pandemic, Roger signed with the team with most Grey Cup titles, the Toronto Argonauts, for the 2021 season.

While McEnroe's teams continued to battle on the field, they finally ran into an opponent they couldn't defeat: COVID-19. After the 2020 season was cancelled, McEnroe earlier in 2021 relinquished his head coaching duties, which went to longtime assistant coach Anthony Lugo.

After spending one year at King's Academy as Head Football Coach in 2022, Ben has returned to Thousand Oaks as the Head Football Coach at Thousand Oaks High School in 2023. McEnroe and his family life in the Conejo Valley."

The Beginnings

Bob "The Logo" Trevathan looks for yardage.

By George Engdahl

When Richard Pederson, the farmer who owned the land on which CLU was developed, responded to Orville Dahl's, CLU's first president, knock on his door, in 1957, he said "I have been expecting you." In providing the land, Pederson's goal was simple: "I want to provide youth with the benefits of a Christian education in a day when spiritual values may well decide the course of history." Since that time CLU has never wavered. Expecting great things has always been at the core of CLU and it has remained steadfast in defining and being faithful to its spiritual values.

Orville Dahl wasted little time in making the development of a first class athletic program a high priority in CLU's first year. He hired a visionary athletic director, Luther Schwich, and then set about the task of recruiting Coach Shoup as the University's founding football coach. Coach Shoup in turn brought with him Don Garrison, who was not only a successful and charismatic coach in his own right, but like Shoup a person of deep personal faith. The Shoup's (Bob and Helen) arrived on the campus in the spring of 1962 and immediately set about the task of recruiting the first football team. Along the way he recruited a couple of faculty members, James Kallas, and Robert Hage to help him. Hage was also a Dean at the college. Both of these men became legends in their own right with regard to the development of the football program and the academic tradition of the University.

In the fall of 1962 the first scraggy recruits showed up. There were no fields on which to practice. The gym was under construction, so Beta Hall, the men's residence hall at the time, served as the locker room until Mountclef Hall was finished that same fall. We started with two a days. There was no hot water in the residence hall. The practice field was a small grassy area located where Alumni House (the Pederson home) is now located. Eventually we were able to practice at Camarillo High School. Getting to practice in the bus affectionately called "The White Tornado" and driven by Norm Denison, was an adventure in survival in and of itself.

While the first team began its inaugural season with no home field, Orville Dahl, Bob Shoup, and representatives from the Los Angeles Times, were able to attract a new NFL team, the Dallas Cowboys, to the campus for their summer camp. Working with the Cowboys, the University was able to fast track the development of better locker room and training facilities as well as the creation of the first home field and adjacent practice fields on the north campus. For the next 26 years these two organizations, the CLU Kingsmen, and the Dallas Cowboys, grew into very competitive and nationally recognized teams. Each team reached the pinnacle of competition by winning their own versions of the national championship. The Cowboys helped put the city of Dallas on the map, and Kingsmen football helped to promote and develop brand identity for this new fledgling university in the southwest. Tom Landry was a man of faith and high spiritual values as was coach Shoup and coach Garrison. In fact the "Letterman's Club" as such organizations were called in those days, was named Chi Alpha Sigma, "Christians, Athletes, Scholars." Perhaps Chi Alpha Sigma can become a part of the foundation, history and tradition of The 5th Quarter.

The first season (1962) was the launching of the CLU football program. It was a bare bones program. There was no nickname or fight song. Facilities were limited at best. There was no home field, or a strong student and community following. Those things were being developed on the fly, or sometime in the future. However, in the great CLU tradition, players, coaches and students didn't know what they didn't have. The team's 1962 record 3-4, wasn't as important as commitment and dedication of those first players and coaches. Most of the players came from very competitive high schools and community college programs. They were used to winning and having great facilities, traditions, a fight song, a band and cheerleaders backed by a large and faithful student body that had come to the same home field for years. In 1962 neither the Cowboys nor the Kingsmen had any of those amenities, but it didn't matter. CLU players and those students and faculty were affectionately called pioneers. They pioneered. That's what they did. They laid the groundwork, they had high expectations and they established the mantra for a winning tradition that continues to this day.

Small School, Big Impact CLU Coaching Tree Branches Out In Every Direction

By Rhiannon Potkey, Ventura County Star

Pete Alamar hears it frequently during his travels...

The Stanford special teams coordinator could be attending a coaching convention, working a camp or on a recruiting trip.

Invariably, Alamar will be introduced to another coach with the accompanying tagline, "He's a Cal Lu guy."

"It's amazing the number of guys you meet or hear about that are from Cal Lutheran," said Alamar, a 1983 graduate of the university. "It might be a small school, but it has a pretty large coaching tree. A bunch of guys are doing a lot of really cool things in coaching."

Miami University in Ohio has been given the nickname "The Cradle of Coaches" for its rich lineage, but Cal Lutheran could be the Division III equivalent.

For a university with a current enrollment of only 4,205, Cal Lutheran has produced a large number of coaches who have reached the highest levels of football.

At least 10 Cal Lutheran graduates are coaching at major Division I programs or are members of NFL staffs this season.

Countless other graduates are coaching at Division II, Division III, NAIA, junior college and high school programs across the country.

"It is a very competitive business, and to see our guys represent the violet and gold at such high levels gives you a lot of pride," said CLU head coach Ben McEnroe, a 1993 CLU graduate. "I watch them on Saturdays and Sundays and pull for their teams because you feel like you have a vested interest. They are your guys and you want them to be successful."

McEnroe had to remain neutral on Saturday night when fourth-ranked Ohio State played No. 23 Wisconsin.

The Big Ten Conference showdown pitted Ohio State offensive coordinator Tom Herman against Wisconsin defensive coordinator Dave Aranda.

Herman graduated from CLU in 1997 and Aranda graduated in 1999.

Herman actually hosted Aranda on Aranda's recruiting visit, and the two have remained close friends.

"I would always call Tom and ask him about things because I knew he was going to be at the forefront of the offensive trends," Aranda said. "I knew he was going to be studying it and know the ins and outs of everything. He was always my go-to guy for information. We don't have those talks as much anymore, but I have always respected him for the help."

Ohio State head coach Urban Meyer described Herman as "one of the bright young minds in college football" when he hired the MENSA member away from Iowa State last season.

Herman's love for college football developed while he was playing at CLU. He considered entering broadcasting after he graduated, but decided right before his final semester to try coaching.

"I figured this would be something that would keep me close to the game," said Herman, a Simi Valley High graduate. "I was not good enough to play professionally, but I didn't want to lose that feel of being in a locker room and the camaraderie of a team. I figured I would give it a shot at a young age, and if I didn't like it I could always jump ship and go into the real world."

Herman started at the very bottom — even sleeping in the locker room as a graduate assistant at the University of Texas — but has made a swift ascent up the coaching ladder.

His arrival at Ohio State thrust him into the spotlight and put him on the short list of future head coaching candidates.

"Everybody asks me about the pressure all the time, but I had the same pressure on myself when I was a 23-year-old making $5,000 a year at Texas Lutheran coaching wide receivers," Herman said. "Anything you put your name on, I think you want it to be the best in the country, whether there are 110,000 in the stands or 800."

CLU developed into an incubator for budding coaches under the guidance of Bob Shoup. During his 27-year career, Shoup mentored his players on the field and schooled them in the classroom.

His guidance helped lay the foundation for Rod Marinelli's coaching career. Marinelli, a 1972 CLU graduate, has 37 years of experience, including 17 in the NFL.

He was hired as the defensive line coach for the Dallas Cowboys this season, and spent the summer in Oxnard training just miles away from his alma mater.

"Cal Lutheran couldn't have been a better environment for me when I got there because I really love this stuff and the guys were just great teachers," Marinelli said. "They did things the right way and were all about teaching and helping men grow. It was such a special place, and it doesn't surprise me how many guys come out of there and really want to teach that way as well."

Marinelli and former NFL wide receivers coach Mike Sheppard served as inspirations for Alamar when he entered the coaching ranks.

"As a young coach it was great seeing those guys having success," said Alamar, a Thousand Oaks native. "It told you it was possible to come from a small school and have a great career in the sport. If those guys could do it, maybe you could do it."

Alamar sent 50 letters to colleges across the country in search of his first job. He received 37 rejections, two maybes and 11 didn't respond.

He eventually talked his way into a graduate assistant position at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo — one of the schools that initially sent him a rejection letter.

Alamar is now in his second season at Stanford after previously coaching in the Pac-12 Conference at Cal and Arizona.

"Sending out those letters was a really interesting process. The one letter I did keep is the rejection letter from Bo Schembechler," said Alamar, referring to the legendary Michigan head coach. "Looking back on that now, I kind of laugh every once in a while about how it all started. It was a bit of an adventure."

Alamar graduated from Thousand Oaks High and CLU alongside Steve Hagen, who is the tight ends coach for the New York Jets.

Hagen epitomizes the nomad existence of a coaching lifer. He has held 16 jobs at 12 different colleges and with two NFL teams. Only once since 1983 has Hagen not been on a college or professional staff.

Hagen's older brother, Mike, a 1980 CLU graduate, is a longtime NFL personnel and scouting consultant.

Their father oversaw maintenance of the athletic facilities at CLU, and the two grew up on the campus.

Alamar believes a Division III atmosphere like CLU is a natural breeding ground for a career in coaching.

"Most guys that play small college football play football because they are passionate about the game," Alamar said. "They are smart enough to understand they are not NFL guys, but they are passionate about the game and that bleeds into what they want to do later in life. They want to remain a part of the game and want to share that."

Aranda had an injury-plagued playing career at CLU, and barely saw the field. But the coaching staff put him to work breaking down film of opponents and helping coach outside linebackers.

"I would be in a psychology class from 2:30-3:30 (p.m.) and then at 4 I had a linebackers meeting in that very same classroom," Aranda said. "I would go from the back to the front and that would be my linebacker meeting room. It was a great experience, and there are not a lot of spots where that could happen. CLU really prepared me for coaching."

McEnroe's former CLU teammate and roommate, Cory Undlin, is the secondary coach for the Denver Broncos.

Undlin began his coaching career at Malibu High before returning to CLU. He's in his 10th season in the NFL, including a one-year stint as the secondary coach for the New England Patriots when they won the Super Bowl in 2004.

"There has been a lot of hard work and dedication and sacrifice for Cory to get to this point," McEnroe said. "He is a grinder and a very detail-oriented guy. He is not going to be outworked by anyone. He is a guy who will sit there and try to figure things out until he has the answer."

Regardless of where they are coaching, the CLU graduates never lose their CLU bond.

They call each other for advice, visit each other to learn plays and recommend each other for potential jobs.

"We all really stay in touch. Everyone is a resource for each other. The connection is really strong and I think it's only going to get stronger," Aranda said. "The guys coming up now are smart and hungry and are willing to put in the time and work to get where they want to be, and once they get into it they will find out there are always guys willing to help them out."

The CLU coaching fraternity has even become a recruiting tool. McEnroe often shows recruits a presentation that includes the logos of where CLU graduates are working.

"We definitely use it to our advantage," McEnroe said. "If there is a kid who even thinks he wants to get into coaching, the sheer number of guys we have in college and the NFL is a big attraction because they can come here and tap into that network."

The demands of the job make it hard for the CLU graduates to return to campus very often for reunions.

But Alamar may have a solution.

"They could put on a heck of a coaching clinic just with Cal Lu guys coming back and speaking," he said. "I think that would be a big attraction."

How sweet it is! When the Cal Lutheran football team scores, everybody's sweet tooth gets satisfied by Karsten Lundring, a 1965 graduate of Cal Lutheran who has supported Kingsmen football for 54 years. His tradition of hurling candy into the stands every time Cal Lutheran scores began over 30 years ago. "Cal Lutheran scored a touchdown and I had a pack of Candy with me that I threw, and it's been a tradition ever since."

OUR MINISTRIES

COACHES Ministry: Coaches are the heart of FCA. Our philosophy in Coaches Ministry is to minister "to and through the coach" to see transformation. FCA ministers to coaches through Bible studies, prayer support, discipleship and mentoring, resources, outreach events and retreats.

CAMPUS Ministry: FCA focuses on equipping, enabling, empowering and encouraging student-athletes, coaches and adult leaders to impact and influence their campus for Christ. This is accomplished through certified ministry that is initiated and led by student-athletes, sponsored by coaches, supported by staff, established on junior high, high school or college campuses and meets on a regular basis. There are four ministry types: Club Huddles, Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles and Coaches Huddles.

CAMP Ministry: Camps are a time of "inspiration and perspiration." FCA provides athletes and coaches the opportunity to reach their God-given potential by offering comprehensive athletic, spiritual and leadership training in a camp environment. We create an athletic environment that produces spiritual transformation in the lives of coaches and athletes in a camp setting. These types of camps are Sports camp, Leadership camp, Coaches camp, Power camp, Partnership camp, Team camp and International camp.

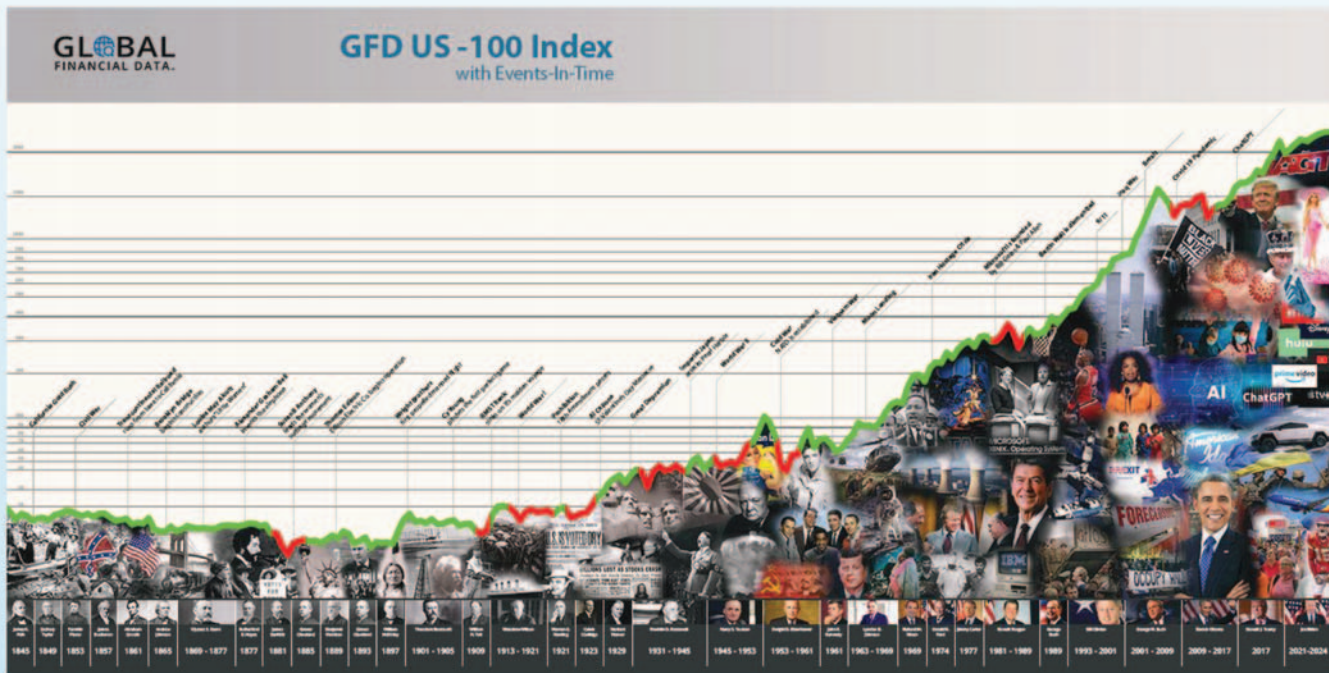

COMMUNITY Ministry: With the majority of athletes playing sports in the community (non-campus programs), FCA is ministering to the club, recreational and youth sports teams with the goal of establishing on-going ministry for coaches and athletes to compete for Jesus Christ with character, passion and excellence. This includes any off-campus opportunities such as Team Huddles, Chaplain Huddles, Coaches Huddles, Club Huddles and FCA Sports Teams.

Don DeMars Memorial Award

This award is presented to an individual of the 5th Quarter Football Club that has been deemed to have gone ABOVE AND BEYOND in the support of the efforts of the 5th Quarter Football Club and Cal Lutheran Football. The award bears the name of the second recipient to earn this award because of his exemplary support in both areas over the years. It is a pleasure to present the 2024 award to:

Gary McGinnis

It was the second semester at Santa Ana Valley High School 1968, when I got a call from Coach Bob Shoup. He invited me to his brother's house in Tustin for a BBQ with some other players from the Orange County Football All Star game. There I met some of my future teammates -Matt Montgomery, Jim Bauer, Richard Kelley, and Pat Shanley while being entertained by the CLC cheerleaders. I wonder if it was the free food or college girls that sold me on CLC or Shoup's smooth talking. Anyway, I made my first visit to the campus not long afterwards. Coming from Orange County to Thousand Oaks was quite a change. I remember driving to Thousand Oaks for the first time. I exited the freeway at Hampshire exit and stopped at a gas station to ask for directions to the college. He told me to drive down Thousand Oaks Boulevard, turn right on Moorpark Road and go until the road ends, you can't miss it. It seemed that I was going back in time. I found the college and got the campus. It didn't last long because there wasn't much to see, just converted chicken coups and an old airplane hanger that was made into a gym, three dorms, and some administration buildings.

The first year of the 1968 season of football at CLC, I played on the Freshman team (Knives) because at that time freshman were not allow to play Varsity (NAIA and NCAA rules). Our team was great by not loosing a single game. The 1969 thru the 1971 season was stellar for CLC. I think we only dropped a couple of games during that time. Our senior year (1971), I was honored to be one of the team captains. Our 1971 team went through many tough times both on and off the field but we seemed to rally each time because that group of players refused to loose. We topped that season by beating Westminster of Pennsylvania for the NAIA National Championship.

The teammates on those 4 years of football helped me mature mentally and socially. Going to college wet behind my ears and graduating ready to teach and coach high school was a great transformation.

I started teaching Math and coaching football and track at Newbury Park High School (1972-1979). Transferring to Westlake High School teaching Math and coaching football, track and field, girls softball and was assistant Athletic Coordinator (1979-1999). Finishing my teaching career at Thousand Oaks High teaching Math, Work Experience coordinator, and coaching football and girls softball (1999-2012).

In the early 1980's I was asked to join CLC football coaching staff where I coached for a couple of seasons.

I started my reunion with CLC when Tim Hengst called me up and wanted me to take his place on the CLC Athletic Hall of Fame committee. Since then I helped with the Hall of Fame committee until the Alumni department took it over. So a group of us decided not to give up helping CLU, so we formed the 5th Quarter Football Club, a non-profit 501 C3 organization. As a Football Booster Club we have helped the football team with jerseys, pads, blocking sleds, sideline communication equipment, injury rehabilitation equipment, food, and donated to the Cheer and Song leaders just to mention a few. The 5th Quarter has two main purposes to "fund" raise and to "Fun" raise. I have been honored to serve the 5th Quarter for two different terms as President. However it's not the President that gets the honors, it's every person that supports our Football Program. If it was not for each and every person that helped out both physically and financially, our Booster Club would not exist.

My hope is for more Cal Lutheran supporters to join our Booster Club. The more people we get involved, the more fun we all have. "Remember many hands make a light load."

Thanks to all, Gary McGinnis

Coaching Staff Biographies

ANTHONY LUGO was named the head coach of Cal Lutheran football in May of 2021. He is just the fifth head coach in the program's storied history.

In Lugo's first year, the Kingsmen started 5-0, the program's best start since 2006. The team also received votes in the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) Top-25 poll, the first time the Kingsmen were mentioned in the poll since 2013.

Lugo has been instrumental in the Kingsmen's success during the 2000's. He helped coach the Purple and Gold to four straight SCIAC championship season's (2009-12) and the team went an unprecedented 25-0 in conference play.

Before coming the head coach, Lugo has been the offensive coordinator for five seasons. With Lugo leading the offense, Kingsmen student-athletes broke into the record book with some even grabbing the top spot.

Under the tutelage of Lugo, quarterback Adam Friederichsen (2014-17) had the second most passing touchdowns for a career and the third most passing yards with 52 and 6,253, respectively.

For season records, Friederichsen tied for the most passing touchdowns (24, 2017) and Cesar De Leon tied for the third-most (23, 2019). Wide receivers Aaron Lacombe (2016) and Wendell O'Brien (2017) are tied for second for receiving touchdowns with 11 and Lacombe has the fifth-most yards with 952 (2017).

The records kept on coming when it came to games. Chris Beeson rushed for a program record five touchdowns in 2017 and De Leon set the record for most passing yards (556) and tied for the most passing touchdowns (6) and completions (44) in 2019. O'Brien and Jajuan Thomas are tied for second with receiving yards with a mark of 214, just missing the top mark by two yards. O'Brien accomplished the feat in 2017 and Thomas did so in 2019.

Prior to becoming the offensive coordinator, Lugo was the special teams coordinator and linebackers coach from 2013-15 and the secondary coach from 2008-12.

In college, Lugo played wide receiver at Iona College in New Rochelle, N.Y., and majored in criminal justice.

Originally from Los Angeles, Lugo currently resides in Glendora.

MICHAEL DIFIORI joined the football coaching staff in the fall of 2021 and is the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach.

DiFiori brings a wealth of knowledge and is entering his 30th year of coaching. He has been all over the coaching ranks and spent 22 years at Bishop Amat High School. He was the defensive coordinator and was also a full-time chemistry instructor.

His teams won 11 league titles and made 20 playoff appearances. His 1992 and '95 squads were CIF champions while his '94 and '06 teams were CIF Finalist. He helped three teams to CIF Semi Finalist and eight teams to CIF Quarter Finalist.

After college Knox was under contract with the Nebraska Danger of indoor football, then pursued a professional career in the European League of Football. He was named Offensive Player of the Year in 2015 with the Thonon Black Panthers in France, and still holds the league record for most total yards in a game with 295 receiving and 107 rushing. He also starred for the Swarco Raiders Tirol of Innsbruck, Austria in 2016.

The Tradition Continues

Coach Lugo on 2024 Outlook

"Forward into battle go the Kingsmen, roaring out again to meet the foe!"

Head coach Anthony Lugo and his staff greeted 145 players as fall training camp for the 2024 season opened in mid-August.

As the Kingsmen seek to rebound from back-to-back subpar seasons, Lugo was encouraged by the fact that 65 of that group spent the off-season in Thousand Oaks working to get bigger, stronger and faster.

The 2024 edition should be more experienced as well, as the roster features seven starters on offense and eight on defense, plus all the key players on special teams.

The returnees include seven of the eight Kingsmen named to the all-Southern California Intercollegiate Conference second team in 2023.

The offensive line is led by junior center Gavin Quiroz, an All-SCIAC selection, plus guards Jamil Charles, a senior, and Caleb Alalem, a junior, junior tackle Gabriel Anguiano, who missed all of the 2023 season, and a "two-headed monster" at tight end — senior Anthony Valencia and sophomore Davian Gonzalez.

One key to offensive effectiveness will be replacing all-SCIAC quarterback JP Andrade, who led the conference's second-best offense. Leading the way into fall camp is junior Jaden Casey, a star at Calabasas High School who is transferring in from 1AA Portland State, plus several freshmen.

Whoever the signal caller is, he'll have some talent to throw to, led by senior Cade Cadam, who led the conference in yardage (712 yards) and was second in catches (58) with 5 touchdowns en route to all-conference honors. He'll be joined by graduate student Desmond Thompson, all-conference as a kick returner. Thompson led the conference in punt return yardage (14.7 yards per return) and was among the top kickoff returns at 21.9 yards per.

Handling the majority of the rushing attempts is junior Dylan Turner, who earned all-SCIAC honors after amassing 257 yards and 3 TDs on 69 carries, a 3.7 per carry average.

Shoring up what Lugo believes will be a much-improved defense will be end Jackson White, a fifth-year starter and team captain who racked up 40 tackles, 23 of them solo, with 11 tackles for loss and 7 sacks. He'll be teamed up front with junior Devon Goosby, who totaled 49 tackles, 23 solo, with 6 sacks among his 8 tackles for loss. They will be joined by junior Hunter Hall (3 sacks) and sophomore Max Juarez (2 sacks and 6 tackles for loss).

Head Coach Lugo

Anchoring the linebacker corps will be all-conference star Arthur Orta, a junior who led the team with 58 tackles. He'll be paired with sophomore Jake Frey, and several newcomers; key among those battling for a starter's role will be freshman linebacker Blake Hurley, an all-state honorable mention pick at Sunset High in Portland.

The secondary is headed up by senior John Moore, another all-SCIAC pick who led the defensive backs with 2 interceptions and a pair of pass breakups. Joining him is senior safety Diego Serrano, who contributed an interception and 2 breakups.

The kicking game is solid with the return of senior placekicker Daniel Burgos, the team's leading scorer, and junior punter Kyle Howie. Burgos totaled 64 points on a conference-leading 11 field goals in 14 tries and 31 PATs in 32 attempts. For his career, he has been successful on 67 of 70 PATs and has 18 field goals in 26 tries.

Howie was among the conference leaders with a 35.6 yard average on 33 punts.

The kicking game is only as effective as its long snapper, and for the Kingsmen that job once again falls into the capable hands of Jackson White.

tight ends earn university scholarships.

A two-way star (quarterback and free safety) at Sylmar High School in Arleta, he earned first team all-City honors and was a two-time Mission League MVP.

After graduation, he played at College of the Canyons in Santa Clarita (where he lives with his fiancé Daysey and children Island Austin and Indy Austin) before transferring to Southwest Baptist University in Missouri. There, he was voted team captain and earned all-conference honors as a wide receiver. He earned an associate's degree in sociology from Canyons in 2008 and a bachelor's in sociology from Southwest Baptist in 2010.

Away from football, Austin works as a social worker for Los Angeles County.

BRADLEY STRATE, entering his sixth year with the Kingsmen football program, is the linebackers coach and video coordinator.

Previously he was a student assistant linebackers coach in 2019 and returned as an assistant linebackers coach and defensive analyst in 2021 after graduating with a bachelor's degree in political science that spring.

Strate played Linebacker for the Kingsmen from 2017-2018 before suffering an injury and beginning his coaching career.

In the spring of 2021, Strate was a defensive assistant and analyst at Linfield Christian High School in Temecula during its five-game COVID season.

In the summer of 2022, Strate participated in a month-long internship with the Edmonton Elks of the Canadian Football League as assistant video coordinator.

AARON HAIGLER enters his first season on the Kingsmen coaching staff in the fall of 2024 as offensive line coach and run game coordinator after spending the 2022-23 seasons as a graduate assistant line coach at Florida International University in Miami.

A 2015 graduate of Notre Dame High School in Sherman Oaks, Haigler earned a bachelor's degree in advertising from the University of Colorado and a master's in sports management from Florida International in 2023.

BAND OF BROTHERS

"We Few, We Happy Few, We Band of Brothers"

This notable passage is from William Shakespear's play, Henry V, Act IV, in which King Henry's cousin, Westmoreland, as the English troops were preparing for the Battle of Agincourt against the French, dismays that the English are highly outnumbered and that the French knights are bigger, more skilled and more heavily armoured. King Henry rises to the occasion and speaks inspirationally, "...the fewer men, the greater share of honor". ...and ... "We few, we happy few, we band of brothers"...will be victorious and each year feast and remember. Through Henry's words and example, the English troops found "a reserve of courage" to deliver an extraordinary victory against all odds. This certainly sounds like Coach Shoup and the Kingsmen's tradition!

CLU Fight Song

Lyrics by: Robert Zimmerman & Elmer Ramsey

Fight! Fight! Fight! Fight!
On to victory show the C-L-U might!
Dig in and take that ball right down the field again, send the foe into flight!
We're here right behind you and our mind's made up to win!
So, go! go! go! go!
Go and get the score and our spirits will soar!
Let's count down! 10, 9, 8, cast off!
7, 6, 5, get set! 4, 3, 2, blast off!
Go! and we are off to win the vict'ry today!

Hail The Kingsmen

Hail Kingsmen! Hail Kingsmen!
Forward into battle go the Kingsmen!
Roaring out again to meet the foe.
Stand and cheer as they appear.
Every loyal son will bid them go.
Throughout the land our loyal band of Kingsmen raise their colors high for all to see, So! Give your all today -
And once again we'll say -
It's victory for CLU.
Hail Kingsmen! Hail Kingsmen!
Fight on to victory.

The Captains

Football Team Captains are elected by vote of the players or appointed by the coaching staff from the offense, defense and special teams based on leadership on and off the field. Their role on the field is nothing more than representing the team during the coin toss. If they are on the field during a penalty, they are typically the ones who communicate with the referee about accepting or declining the penalty.
